

There isn't enough parking in town centre, says councillor

WEYMOUTH town centre's parking situation is so bad it is at "breaking point".

That is the message from Melcombe Regis ward councillor Francis Drake who says he has been inundated with complaints.

But Weymouth and Portland transport spokesman Councillor Christine James says the council is trying to do what it can.

Mr Drake said: "The main complaint I get is that residents and businesses in the town centre who have paid for parking permits are too frightened to move their cars because, when they do, they can't get back in because their space has been snapped up by someone else."

"Most of the problem is being caused by tourists who are perfectly entitled to pay for five hours parking in one of these spaces, but it forces residents and businesses to drive round searching for an alternative space they are entitled to but can't find.

"It has even affected me. Only recently I pulled out of my parking space to attend a council meeting, but when I came back I found my space had been taken. It took me nearly two hours to find another.

"There just isn't enough car parking in the town centre and I believe there are roughly three drivers competing for every two spaces."

Mr Drake said he believed that the situation was unique to the town centre.

He added: "I believe it could be helped if permit holders unable to find a space could park behind the Pavilion in the car park there as a sort of over-spill area at no extra cost to the fee they have already paid for their permit.

"There might be arguments that doing this would cost the council revenue but that's not true because tourists and other drivers using parking spaces for permit holders are paying to do so, so effectively the space is being paid for twice."

Town centre butcher Dennis Spurr of the Fantastic Sausage Factory said town centre parking is so bad that he parks right away where it's free and walks into town.

But he added: "If permit holders can

DR David Cove has been in Dorchester since 1981 when he was appointed Consultant Physician to Dorset County Hospital. His specialities were general medicine, diabetes and endocrinology (hormones). He was medical director for four years and, among other things, was involved with developing clinical governance.

He started his medical career at Birmingham University, qualified there and then undertook a number of posts and research mainly in the West Midlands.

He has just taken over as Chairman of the Dorchester and Sherborne Citizens' Advice Bureau.

■ WHAT brought you to Dorset?

It was a combination of the post and the area - it's a lovely part of the world to come to and at the time there was the prospect of a new hospital, although that didn't come for some years. It was an exciting opportunity. When I first arrived we were admitting acute medicine to Dorset County and Weymouth and District hospitals and I also did clinics in Dorchester, Weymouth, Bridport, Blandford and Sherborne.

■ DID you know about area before you came?

No, I didn't. I had to look it up on the map, but I found out about it pretty quickly. My first impressions were of a lovely county town with a delightful rural area and the sea close by as well, ideal in many ways.

■ ARE you attracted to the sea?

I like windsurfing and swimming and a bit of snorkelling. I'm not windsurfing at the moment; although I did until a couple of years ago...I might have another go.

■ YOU stayed, you didn't move on?

At the time I was appointed consultants which meant you tended to stay in the same place. In training you would move from post to post but in a consultant post you were expected to be there for life. It's a bit different now and people do move more now.

■ WHEN did you retire?

From the NHS in April 2013. I had been part-time for a few years and had been gradually reducing hours from the age of 60, but I properly retired at the age of 66. It would have been very difficult to suddenly stop.

■ DO you have any hobbies?

I guess gardening is the main hobby, it takes up quite a lot of time; I also started doing a bit of sculpture in a very amateurish way about four years ago. I'm not very good, but I enjoy it.

■ YOUR retirement will now be partially taken over by your new role with the CAB. How did that come about?

I wanted to do something worthwhile and I had family who used to work for CAB years ago as well as many patients who benefitted from the CAB. The opportunity to take up the chair came up and I thought that would be a good thing to do and a real challenge. I've come to it cold so I'm on a steep learning curve, which I'm actually enjoying. Everyone has been most helpful in explaining CAB and my job, and the job that they do. I've also, with client's permission, sat in on a number of sessions which I found very instructive. I've been terribly impressed by the staff at the CAB.

■ AND they deal with so many people?

Yes, we're currently working out the figures for this year in the run up to the annual meeting on October 9th but for 2012-13 the bureau dealt with 5,590 clients who between them had 17,068 issues to be resolved. The numbers are quite staggering.

60 SECOND INTERVIEW

■ I WOULD imagine funding must be a problem even though many of the 'staff' are volunteers?

It's a constant and continuing worry. The core of our funding comes from local government and their budgets are being cut. I know they are doing a review of their expenditure for 2016 onwards and although they are very supportive of CAB they do have their hands tied and this work is non-statutory.

But the councils are aware of the issues. They know if they don't have the CAB helping with people's debt issues there is a risk they could become homeless and then the local authorities have to sort that out, at very much higher expense. We would argue that funding the CAB is money very well spent.

■ WERE you surprised about how much poverty and problems there are in this area, which on the face of it appears affluent?

I have been aware of it for a long time really, through medicine. Rural poverty is hidden away, it doesn't hit you in the face like urban poverty. There are a lot of people who are making do and organising their lives as best they can on very little, particularly with house prices being high and the cost of transport locally.

■ DO you have favourite authors?

Orwell, Greene, Isabel Allende I like.

■ FAVOURITE films and music?

Classical music and a certain amount of jazz. We go to the Dorchester Film Society and enjoy that very much, there's a whole variety of things there. I thoroughly enjoyed 'The Angel's Share' which was along the lines of 'Whisky Galore'. It was a wonderful film, very funny.

Chalet owners told to pack their things

Concerns empty huts could be open to vandalism

CONFUSION and concern continues to dominate the council's attempts to thrash out a future for seafront chalets and associated facilities at Greenhill, Weymouth.

The borough council says it can no longer afford to look after them and has asked holders to empty their chalets and return their keys by October 31st while ground is prepared either for a community group to run the site or for a private sector takeover.

But a stuttering meeting of Weymouth and Portland's management committee heard serious concerns voiced that leaving chalets empty posed questions about vandalism and the cost of security.

Alderman Andy Hutchings, who has a chalet, spoke for fellow holders and said it would cost the council £14,250 in lost revenue to close the chalets ahead of a new tender document being completed by March 2015.

He added their main concern now was that if the decision to terminate chalet licences wasn't rethought then not only would the council lose £14,250 "but also all chalets will be empty and open to vandalism and probably the homeless will move in".

He said: "During the winter months chalet owners are the eyes and ears of the council. If during that period no-one is there then faults won't be reported and that, in my opinion, will leave you with lots of

by Harry Walton

empty derelict chalets."

Keeping holders in the chalets until March 2015 would both generate extra revenue and avoid them becoming derelict, he said.

Councillor Rachel Rogers said using the idea of homeless people moving into the chalets was just "a way of trying to threaten the council into action", but others were worried about unanswered questions on the cost of security to combat vandalism.

Chief executive Matt Prosser said matters were "a property issue" and holders were being asked to return keys because vacant possession was needed whether the future has a community slant or a private one.

There were promises to update everyone at the committee's December 2nd meeting, but that will come too late for some including Gabrielle Huggins from Bristol who made an emotional statement that she was "very sad" chalets were to be put out to tender.

It would be nice if chalet holders could be given another year while proposals for their future were thrashed out, she said, because it was "really heartrending" to face losing her chalet.

Councillor Christine James said members needed to know a lot more about maintenance costs and vandalism because "empty chalets get broken in to" while Councillor Ian Roebuck said leaving 170 chalets unoccupied from November 1st meant there would be security costs to combat vandalism, but what were they?

He added: "What budget have we for security when the chalets become empty? Where is the money coming from? I am very concerned that this committee does not seem to have even considered this. We have a need and a duty to protect our assets."

Councillor Ian Bruce said that chalets always close in the winter and there was "always a question of keeping secure what is down there".

Councillor Mike Goodman said: "I accept the point that there may be damage to empty chalets but it should not be significantly greater than previous years. We do hear about damage quicker if chalets are occupied but it doesn't prevent it."

Chairman Councillor Mike Byatt pledged: "Members will have an update on the situation including finances, including the cost of maintenance and security."

Alderman Hutchings said after the meeting: "Nothing said here today has eased our concerns about the security of our chalets after October 31st when we have left them. There was also nothing concrete said about the cost to the council of security for the chalets which doesn't seem to be in any budget."

Woman disturbs intruder in home

A WEYMOUTH woman who investigated the sound of a loud car door slam disturbed an intruder in her home.

Police say the incident happened at 10.50pm on August 27th along Walpole Street.

The victim, a 36-year-old woman, was sitting on her sofa when she heard a car door slam louder than normal.

When she went to see why the noise was so loud she saw a person leaving her property through the front door.

The woman called out to the intruder who then fled through an alleyway opposite her home toward Heron Court. It is believed that nothing was taken during the incident.

PC Rob Hoskins, of Weymouth Police said: "I am keen to speak with anyone who may have witnessed the incident or who may have seen the offender in the area of Walpole Street or Ranelagh Road at that time."

"The intruder was described as wearing either a white hooded top that had a black torso with white sleeves, or a black body warmer over a white hooded top."

"The top had a large white old style Adidas logo on the back."

"I ask anyone with information that can assist the investigation to contact the police in confidence."

Witnesses and anyone with information should call Dorset Police in confidence on 101 quoting incident number 27:471 or call the free and anonymous Crimestoppers line on 0800 555 111.

Teen punches robber in the face after being attacked

A TEENAGER has been robbed in Weymouth by an offender who ran off after being punched in the jaw by the victim.

Police say the incident happened on August 17th at 6.15pm when the boy got off the number one bus from Portland at the bus stop by Costcutters on Portland Road.

Officers say he walked to Costcutters, reached the store door and saw a notice that the shop had closed down. As he turned around a hooded person stood right in front of him.

Without saying anything, the offender grabbed the boy by the neck and chin area and pushed his face upward. This action pushed him against the door of the shop.

Police say the offender then searched the left hip pocket of the victim's coat with his right hand and removed blue and black Sennheiser in-ear earphones and a day bus ticket. The victim adressed the offender but the person remained silent.

The victim never saw the offender's face and cannot say whether this was a man or a woman.

The person is described as five feet ten inches tall and of slim build and was wearing silver or grey jogging bottoms and a black Nike hooded top, with two thick orange stripes down the length of the sleeves and a zip-up pocket on the right bicep area.

PC Rob Hoskins, of Weymouth police, said: "The victim feared he was going to get hurt or lose more of his belongings so he punched the offender to the left side of the jaw. This made the offender stumble, groan and run off towards Portland."

"I would like to hear from anyone who witnessed the incident or has any details about the person responsible as they may recognise the description."

"Anyone with information that could assist my investigation should contact Dorset Police."

Town centre parking at 'breaking point'

use the Pavilion car park as overspill it would make sense because not everyone is prepared to walk in like me or is physically able to walk.

"The council has to get to grips with the parking situation before people stop buying permits."

But Mrs James said: "We simply don't have the number of on-street spaces to match the number of cars owned by people in the town in general."

"We can't restrict the number of permits we sell because that would be discrimination. That means there will inevitably be more permit holders than spaces and that has always been the case."

"What we have said to permit holders is that they can use the Pavilion car park at night, but during the day people have to take their chances."

"No permit holder has a right to a specific space."

They are allocated a zone and they have to try and find a space within that zone.

"At the moment it is not possible for drivers whose zone is full to move across and park in a different zone which has spaces, but we are hoping to change that soon."

"It is not the council's duty to provide on-street parking for anyone. It is up to people to make their own arrangements as to how they get to work or in to town."

"We know there are not enough on-street parking spaces but we are trying to do what we can."

"In any case, we are a tourist resort and if tourists are coming in to park we should be grateful."

"If Councillor Drake has had a number of complaints then I would be happy to meet with him and discuss them."

Public to have say on future of fire service

A WIDE ranging consultation to consider options for the future of Dorset Fire and Rescue Service is at its midway point.

But there is still a chance to have your say on the future of the fire and rescue service.

Until October 20th, members of the public will be able to give their views on options including closer working with local authorities and the police through to a possible merger with Wiltshire and Swindon Fire Authority.

Darran Gunter, Chief Fire Officer of Dorset Fire and Rescue Service said: "DFRS has 40 front-line fire engines, 33 of which are crewed by on-call or retained firefighters. Our response arrangements are therefore very efficient. We also undertake over 12,000 home safety checks a year and work with a range of partners to make our communities safer.

He added: "However, like all public services, we face significant financial challenges. Our potential deficit in 2017/18 ranges between £2.3million and £3.2million. I am passionate about protecting front-line services and for this reason would encourage everyone to take part in this consultation.

"Whilst currently a combination with Wiltshire Fire and Rescue Service is the preferred option for both the Fire Authority and I, it is really important that communities, partners and businesses let us have their views on this and other scenarios that we are consulting on."

Councillor Rebecca Knox, Chairman of Dorset Fire Authority said: "We have a fantastic fire and rescue service and I am sure you, like the authority, want to do whatever you can to ensure the service continues to keep the communities of Dorset safe.

"DFRS's advice and support reaches out to many vulnerable groups and I am particularly proud of our work with young people, protecting future generations.

She added: "We all want to continue this great work, but it does cost and our budget is under huge pressure, scenario three at this stage assists us best.

"Please look carefully at the consultation, take part and help us continue to provide you with a great service, we can do this only with greater financial savings."

The consultation can be accessed at www.dorsetfire.gov.uk/working-with-us/about-us/strengthening-our-fire-and-rescue-service/.

ViewLetters Why are experts needed?

I HAVE read recently in the local press that Dorset County Council will be spending money on 'external expertise' to 'transform and run the authority more efficiently'.

I am at a loss to understand why this is because on checking the county council website I find that the senior management team is very highly paid as follows. The chief executive is £146,000, the deputy chief executive is £120,933, the director of children's services is £112,302, the director of the environment and the economy is £112,302 and the director of adult and community services is £115,175 which comes to a glorious total of £606,712.00.

These people, I hope, are chosen for their experience and expertise in these various fields of management and as you can see from the figures above, very highly paid as well. Surely it must be in their remit when recruited to these positions that they will be expected to run their respective organisations in the most efficient and economical way.

For the council leader to warn that outside experts are to be brought in surely is a very bad reflection on their skills which allow them to earn such high salaries.

These directors should take full responsibility for the economic and efficient running of the authority and be accountable, through the elected representatives, to the electorate or not be in the post at all.

Sex shop owner fights licence refusal

Council receive complaint that signage is not 'in keeping' with town's image

A WEYMOUTH sex shop owner is to ask councillors to hear his licence renewal application again.

Owner Jonathan Spencer successfully applied to get the annual licence on his Erotica Belle premises in Ranelagh Road renewed and for permission to open on all Bank Holidays except Christmas Day and Easter Sunday.

But he was refused permission to continue displaying large advertising boards on his shop exterior and told to remove them because it was against his licence.

Now his legal advisors have told him he didn't get sufficient notification of the hearing to be able to prepare his case properly nor did the council notify him in writing

by Harry Walton

since 2011 that he had been breaching his license conditions.

Mr Spencer told View From Weymouth and Portland: "They only notified me that the hearing was today at 9am. I was in Watford so I had to come all the way down and was not able to prepare myself.

"At no point did the licensing officer inform me that they were going to be discussing the blocked out side windows and no notice had been received since 2011 telling me I was in breach of the licence."

Accordingly he has now written to Weymouth and Portland head of business licensing Sue Moore asking for his application to be heard again by the council's Licensing Committee.

Earlier the committee was told that only one person – who lived at Lodmoor, some distance from the shop – had objected to Mr Spencer's application.

The objector asked the committee not to renew Erotica Belle's licence and to close the shop which she said was "not in keeping with the image of Weymouth being a family resort".

She added: "The sign board image is far too big and bold and is at a level for toddlers and children to see and read."

Weymouth and Portland head of business licensing Sue Moore said the signs breached the shop's licence.

Mr Spencer told the committee that he had similar high quality premises in Andover and Bournemouth while his fourth premises in Salisbury had just had its licence renewed by the council there for £10.50. Weymouth charged £2,400!

He added: "When I took over these premises they were run down. My business is not to make it so seedy. We do sell products that doctors recommend so we are providing a service."

Mr Spencer said his other premises had won several awards for their window displays and that in Weymouth they seem to "demonise sex shops".

He added: "I have had no objections to any of my other sex shops or the Weymouth one in the past and it is strange that the person who has now objected did not do so earlier."

Councillor David Hawkins said he felt modern society had "a need" for sex shops and asked Mr Spencer why he could not just put up a "Sex Shop" sign.

Mr Spencer replied: "If you want us to put up a Sex Shop sign that's fine, but there are other aspects to it and I haven't put such a sign up before because that's sleazy."

He said the extra Bank Holiday opening would bring Erotica Belle in line with other shops and, when questioned by Councillor Andy Blackwood about the shop's relationship with its neighbours, replied that there had been no complaints and that residents had told him it was a great improvement over the old sex shop that used to be on the same site.

Weymouth and Portland Mayor Councillor Kate Wheller said she was on the 2011 committee which dealt with conditions for the shop which did not include the boards currently displayed.

Mr Spencer replied: "The boards are not offensive. Yes it's bold, but what children are going to read anything into it?"

Chairman Councillor Hazel Bruce said members had considered Mr Spencer's application "very strongly and thoroughly" and were prepared to grant the Bank Holiday variations and to renew his licence, but existing signage was to be removed as it contravened the licence.

Thumbs up for friendship club

A NEW monthly friendship club is opening in Weymouth.

South Dorset Positive Living Group seeks to bring together like minded people to share skills and knowledge and have fun.

Co-founder Jane Pardoe said: "We have arranged visits by guest speakers on subjects from singing to laughter yoga.

"Everything we do will be using local skills and the aim is to set up a network programme to encourage positive living and raise our energies for the community we live in."

The group's first meeting will be on September 17th from 7.30pm-9pm at the Weymouth Community Fire Station on Radipole Lane.

Entry costs £5 per meeting with £3.50 for over-65s.

Show-stopping weekend

FINE weather - and traditional and new attractions - helped Dorset County Show pull in a crowd of 60,000 over the weekend. Stunt displays, dancing

Words by Trevor Bevins & photos by Andy Worth

sheep and a record-breaking interest in homecrafts were among the highlights at the busy show site.

Show secretary Sam Mackenzie-Green said the event had topped 500 trade stands with homecraft entries at over 2,300 for the first time.

The motorcycle stunt team Bolddog Lings thrilled the crowds in the main ring with death-defying leaps and stunts on both days while youngsters were as keen as ever to pet hounds from local hunts and cheer on competitors in traditional show-jumping and scurry racing.

The Vegetable Society's National Championships were at the show with dozens of classes with local chefs demonstrating their skills. A total of nine chefs presented a range of culinary skills throughout the weekend, most using locally sourced products to conjure up tasty delights for the entertainment of their audience.

Among the more unusual exhibits was a 66ft corn dolly in a Welsh fan design made by Audrey Rolfe, 80, from Bridport, a member of the Guild of Straw. The piece was made up of more than 3,000 pieces of straw.

The harvest theme was celebrated by local churches including a harvest service conducted by Canon Jean Coates, with the Ven Paul Taylor, Archdeacon of Sherborne, at the organ.

Dorset Churches Together say they had a fantastic weekend at the show with visitors ranging from a 94-year-old, who had walked to the show from Prince of Wales Road, while small children drew pictures, made loom bracelets and played with building blocks and water.

But the event was also about doing business in Dorset - as testified by the 500 plus trade stands.

Three businesses - Liberty Fields, Dorset Wool and Chalkwalk Interiors - won a free stand to showcase their brands.

Sam Mackenzie-Green, Dorset County Show Secretary said: "The three winners were selected based on their very evident passion for their businesses, as well as the products they have created which we felt most successfully reflect the rural spirit of Dorset."

Celebrating Weymouth's maritime

WEYMOUTH celebrated its long and illustrious maritime history with a two-day Waterfest in and around the ancient harbour.

Thousands turned out on Saturday and Sunday to enjoy a programme of events which demonstrated Weymouth's intrinsic links with the sea.

The Waterfest was organised by Roger Dalton Associates who were commissioned by Weymouth Business Improvement District (BID) to stage two events each year, the other one being the Victorian Shownight in December.

The Waterfest was considered to be such a success that it is likely to become an annual event.

By Philip Evans

The festival was staged around the harbour where the quayside was divided into specialist areas focussing on sailing, diving, underwater exploration and traditional maritime crafts from boat building to lobster pot making.

These activities were complemented by a wide range of food, shanty music and a rolling programme of entertainment both onshore and afloat.

There were also a number of demonstrations including an amazing "James Bond-style" flyboarding displays in the harbour which drew a huge crowd. Other displays ranged from the Historic Diving Association in a dive tank to traditional crafts of lobster pot making and knot tying.

The festival also provided the opportunity for many maritime charities to promote their work, including the Wreck to Reef project, the Little Big Trust that runs accessible sailing training for teenagers and the Boat Academy at Lyme Regis which displayed two of their student boats.

Waterfest's nominated charity, Weymouth Sea Scouts, demonstrated their skills on and off the water and also ran a maritime tombola.

A number of seafood stalls were set up alongside the quay, doing good business over the weekend, and a mixture of shanty and folk music on the stage in Trinity Road proved very popular.

Organiser Roger Dalton was delighted with the success of the show. He told the View from Weymouth: "It was more successful than we dared to hope. The Flyboarding demonstrations were spectacular and the festival came to a very emotional end as the tall ship, Le Marité, in full sail, sailed out of the harbour. It was absolutely stunning.

"There is now a real sense that this could build into a significant event in future years. The mix of traditional skills, shanty singing and seafood stalls clearly worked and in the future I think we can make this even more successful."

■ MAKING MUSIC: Shanty singers kept the visitors entertained on the harbourside

■ FLYBOARDING "James Bond-style" proved extremely popular with the quayside packed with spectators

Weymouth Matters

A personal View by HARRY WALTON

A climate of its own

A PORTLAND phenomena much like Table Mountain recently showed just how much its climate can differ from Weymouth.

It was a miserable day with a heavy drizzle as I drove over to the island, looking ahead to see the top of Portland sheared off by a flat bank of gloomy grey cloud which made for the comparisons with Table Mountain.

But incredibly, like someone shutting off a tap, when I got within 100 yards of Victoria Square all the drizzle stopped, the whole place brightened up and all the roads and pavements were dry!

In fact, by the time I got to where I was going the sun was coming out which was just as well really.

Conditions were still balmy with some soft sunshine when I came to make the return trip about an hour later, but the cloud slowly loomed over me and by the time I got home I could barely get inside before down came the rain again.

There are stickers saying "Keep Portland Weird", but I'd rather be weird and dry on Portland than wet and normal in Weymouth!

The busy summer that Weymouth needed

WEYMOUTH has just had what it needs above anything else, a good summer season.

There was some confusion at the start when the sun came out and no-one knew what it was, but the town's tourism industry was soon in full swing with hoteliers and guesthouses reporting brisk bookings and attractions doing a roaring trade.

Seafront businesses did particularly well, a vital fact of life for them since they, like grizzly bears, tend to hibernate during the winter and need summer fat to see them through.

But it is the little things that show how well Weymouth has done, those aspects of resort life that don't catch the headlines.

Take car parks for instance. When you see the white signs and lines at entrance points starting to wear and blur then you know that the sheer volume of parking is responsible which means it has been a good season.

Then there is any normal walk down St Mary Street.

If you can do that easily then it is worrying times for tourism, but it was impossible to do so in 2014 because the street was frequently choked with people and you had to dodge, duck and weave your way to make progress.

Some outlets said their business was up 20 percent, others that they were just clawing back what they had lost during the Olympics.

Anyhow, the town seems to have been given a summer shot in the arm and is more than ready for the next big rush. Have you seen how many shops are already selling Christmas stuff?

No wonder. Christmas Eve is just 15 weeks away today!

Why work twice as hard when you can get by?

A DAMNING indictment of modern society's approach to encouraging people to work has emerged through a Weymouth man who is happily living off wages earned from just 16 hours work per week as a barman.

Out of that he is docked various things including rent and council tax while he has £14 a week – or a miserly £2 per day – for food.

Quite clearly he would welcome more money to make his life a little easier, but he has chosen to carry on with his current lifestyle because there is just no incentive to work harder.

He explained that he could easily get more work to increase his earning power up to 40 hours a week....but he said that if he did so he would actually be worse off!

He'd calculated that only by working 42 hours a week could he increase his income....by about £5 per week.

Apparently the reason behind this is that he could sharply increase his wage by working the extra hours but not as sharply as the drop off in the benefit money he receives.

He is not against working but neither is he stupid and he has no intention of swapping a frugal lifestyle gained by working 16 hours for a frugal lifestyle plus £5 for which he'd have to work 42 hours.

As he said: "I get £2 per day for food and that's easy if you're sensible. I buy a chicken and have the legs one day, the breasts another day and boil the carcass up for soup stock with the remaining meat on another day. I can effectively feed eight people on my money. Thank God the other seven don't turn up!"

Some need a map to navigate car park

RESEARCH shows that two out of five people don't know how to navigate using a traditional map.

This comes as no surprise to the residents of Weymouth during the tourist season who regularly get stopped and asked for directions, but just recently tourists have been getting lost in the town's multi-storey car park!

Britannia Parking has done its best with a simple circular system to go up or down through the structure, but three times in recent weeks I've been ascending an up-ramp only to meet a flustered driver coming down.

Comments have ranged from "Took the wrong turning!" to "Sorry, we're on holiday here!" as if this afforded some sort of special dispensation.

So be warned. You appear to need your wits about you in a car park as much as you ever do on the open road.

Craft fair more popular than ever

MORE than 30 stalls were on display when Weymouth Bay Methodist Church held its annual week-long art and crafts fair.

Everything was arranged across two floors with the ground floor given over to cards, jewellery, woodwork, paintings, knitted items, books, pottery, basket-work, Traidcraft and clothes.

On the top floor was embroidery as presented by three groups of embroiderers, Royal Manor, Chesil and West Country.

Co-organiser Andrew McLarty said: "We had more stallholders this year than in previous years and we seem to be growing every year we hold the event.

"Cards and pottery proved very popular and the message we get from stallholders is that they want us to hold the fair again next year.

"All the money we raise will go to church funds or local, national and international charities."

Family
fun day
in Littlemoor

DEPUTY Mayor Christine James and grand-daughter Emily James tackle the bucking bull

NEARLY 30 stalls enticed people when Weymouth's Littlemoor 3 Zone group held a giant family fun day. The event was held at Top Club Field and included displays by Portland's 2nd Edition Majorettes, zumba, cheer-leading and the spectacular Simon Chainey with his fire act who also ran a circus skills workshop.

Organiser Jan Hinton said: "We also had singers, music, food and refreshments while cream teas were offered by Weymouth Breast Cancer Support Group.

"None of this would have been possible without the support of Synergy Housing, Working With You and our wonderful Weymouth community volunteers. The fun day, in its fourth year, was officially opened by Weymouth and Portland Deputy Mayor Councillor Christine James.

She said: "I think this fun day is a wonderful idea and it is so nice to see people come out and support their community.

"It was a real pleasure to open the fun day and it certainly had good weather which is so important for events like this."

Beach motocross returns to Weymouth

WEYMOUTH Beach Motocross roars into the resort on October 11th-12th.

More than 200 motocross bike riders are expected to take to the sands for the main race day on the Sunday.

Weymouth and Portland Lions in partnership with Purbeck Motocross Club (PMC) have drawn up a fantastic programme of free entertainment for Saturday afternoon including the Odyssey Majorettes, Gorillaman on his quadbike and a motocross demonstration.

Lions Activities Chairman Trevor Stratton said: "Weymouth Beach Motocross weekend is the original and the best beach motorsport event in Weymouth.

"We've been going 20 years and we pride ourselves in providing free entertainment to residents and visitors alike while raising money for local good causes.

"We try and introduce new features and build the event up every year, so come along and enjoy the free show and spend a little money at the stalls on the Esplanade selling everything from specialist motocross kit to hot food, cockles, bakery goods, sweets and fudge. We also have a range of children's rides and attractions to keep the whole family busy.

"We are also pleased to host a wide range of charity stalls. Already signed up are Somerset and Dorset Air Ambulance, Trimar, Melcombe Regis Rotary with Shelterbox.

"We do all this with help from local businesses to build the course, create the jumps and ramps and to pay for the production of the programme and to provide publicity.

PMC chairman Alf Stearn said: "We already have entries for this year's races and we can promise a great event, so Weymouth Esplanade is going to be an exciting place to be on Motocross Weekend!"

School helps reinvent PE kit

GIRLS from a Portland academy said unflattering PE kit was a major barrier for them being active.

So the students from the Isle of Portland Aldridge Community Academy agreed to work with Virgin Active (VA) and leading fashion designer Lexie Sport to come up with the perfect PE kit to give them the confidence to be more active.

Virgin said that national research showed 46 per cent of 16-year-old girls said they enjoyed being active but hated their school PE kit, 48 per cent admitted making excuses to get out of PE lessons and 28 per cent said they avoid sport because they feel ugly when wearing their PE kit.

The Portland girls were challenged by Lexie Sport founder Lily Rice to create their perfect PE kit with the winning design coming from 13-year old Emily Marshall.

The project demonstrated that simply changing the traditional PE kit to more modern leggings, high-necked collars and dark colours that hide sweat patches could have a major impact in driving higher engagement with PE in school, and in turn help to foster active lifestyles among young girls.

Now the academy is consulting with parents ahead of insti-

■ EMILY is wearing the blue and white kit she designed and appears with Lily Rice from Lexie Sport, and head teacher Rob Russell

tuting plans to change the school PE kit.

Emily said: "I enjoy exercise and know it is good for me but sometimes school PE kit made me feel very self-conscious. It was really exciting to have the opportunity to design my perfect PE kit. I hope that schools look at the findings of our work with the Active Inspiration campaign to encourage more girls to live active lifestyles."

VA managing director Matt Merrick said: "It is immensely rewarding to be able to give young girls a say in how best to tackle the problem of youth inactivity. However, both we and our partners in the Active Inspiration campaign are clear that this winning PE kit design is just the starting point, showing what makes girls feel confident."

"Virgin Active is now calling for schools, politicians and PE kit manufacturers to listen to these findings and consider incorporating them into the PE kits of the future, so that more young girls feel engaged with being active in their everyday lives."

IPACA head of campus Rob Russell said: "The new PE kit looks great. I'm proud of our pupils for not only creating these designs, but also for sharing their insight on how PE kit can be a barrier preventing young girls taking part in sport. "As a school we will be acting on these findings to encourage more of the girls to reap the benefits of an active lifestyle. In consultation with parents, we will be looking to amend our uniform rules over the coming months to allow pupils more freedom of choice over their PE kit."

New in business? Join the club!

A CLUB for people wanting to start their own business launches in Weymouth and Portland on Thursday, September 11th.

The New in Business Club is supported by funding from the EU's European Regional Development Fund and membership is free.

It provides a forum for people to explore the challenges and opportunities of starting a business and is aimed at those with little or no experience of being self-employed but who are attracted to the idea of being their own boss.

The club has been meeting since May this year, but from September it is open to anyone in the Weymouth and Portland area who is new to business.

Its next meeting is on September 11th in Weymouth College.

The club is organised by Christine Collins, Enterprise Adviser for Weymouth and Portland, WSX Enterprise who said: "It's fantastic that, for the first time, we have a programme of training and support focused solely on Weymouth and Portland."

"In the months since it began I have worked with dozens of new clients looking to start a business. I've also been providing support to a number of established firms looking to grow."

One of the new businesses benefiting from Christine's support is Dorset Trade Skills, due to be opened by David and Mandy Hunter on Lynch Lane this month.

David said: "Having worked for other people as a trainer in building trades, I knew I had the experience and skills to plan and run my own courses. What we lacked was experience in running our own business."

The New in Business Club meets monthly and at the September 11th meeting, club members will have a chance to quiz Andrew Knowles, of Writecombination, about using social media to promote their business.

The meeting is at Weymouth College from 9.30am-11am. Attendance is free but places are limited and must be booked in advance with Christine Collins on christine.collins@wsxenterprise.co.uk or 07740 403942.

Age UK offer benefits advice

AGE UK Dorchester and Dorset County Council's Welfare Benefits Team are working together to provide benefits advice and help to older people in West Dorset.

Advice sessions will be held on the second Thursday in each month, between 9.30am-11.30am at Weymouth Community Fire Station on Radipole

Lane. The facility is for Dorset residents only and is strictly by appointment.

To make an appointment, contact Age UK Dorchester on 01305 269444 or visit www.ageuk.org.uk/dorchester.

The next surgery is on Thursday, September 11th with future dates including October 9th and November 13th.

The Christian Column

AS I SEE IT ... by Geoff Treleven

Imaginative theology

IT is not my purpose to confuse you with religious jargon, but I am reminded of people I have known who had their own ideas about God with no basis in Scripture.

In fact, I suspect many make up their own minds about what is or is not truth. It has been said that truth is relative rather than absolute.

An older man I used to know had what I would call a rather woolly Christian faith and, on occasions, said some odd things. When he met someone who had lost a child or other relative, he would offer them comfort with some strange ideas about what had become of their deceased one. His words seemed to come from figments of his imagination rather than God's Word.

Then there was the much younger girl who said she believed some but not the entire Bible. When asked how she could tell which parts to believe, she said the Holy Spirit showed her! I understand she was training to be a preacher. I cannot imagine the content of her sermons!

The Bible clearly states that: "All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness." (2 Timothy 3:16).

Pedalo power bags Goodwins a holiday!

PEDALO power has won a Weymouth family a holiday in Tenerife.

Airline Jet2 recently held a family pedalo race at Bosworth Water Trust near Nuneaton and the Goodwin family, in town for a family gathering, took part in the race and won the grand prize of a holiday to the Paradise Holiday Park in Tenerife.

Families were given a chance to win the holiday by competing in a series of pedalo race heats held at the water sports park.

A total of 35 families took part but it was Jack and five year old Chloe Goodwin from Weymouth who took the chequered flag and pedalo-go-go glory!

They'll be jetting off with their family from East Midlands Airport to Tenerife to enjoy some late summer sunshine.

Jack said: "We've got wobbly legs after the peddling but we're all very excited for an adventure to Tenerife so it's all been worth it."

"We were just in Nuneaton for a family get together and now we've won a holiday to the Canary Islands. Thanks Jet2holidays!"

Jet2.com and Jet2holidays chief executive Steve Heapy said: "We held these exciting pedalo races to bring some traditional holiday fun to families in the region. Congratulations to the Goodwin family. I'm sure they'll have a terrific time in Tenerife."

A festival launch to please all the senses

UNIQUE special sound art about Portland, and specifically St George's Church, launched the b-side Festival on the island.

The multi-media event was given a highly atmospheric start thanks to artist Duncan Whitley.

He combined every sound from birds and the church's bell to the sounds of quarries and even storms passing over the church whose fury was recorded from inside the building.

Duncan said: "This was eight months work condensed into 25 minutes played through 12 speakers providing a 360-degree experience. It's immersive, it's about encouraging active listening, it's evocative and it's about a church which is very important to Portland. When it was built in 1754 it was the only church on the island."

B-side curator Sally Watkins said a host of events had already happened – including delivering a lullaby by illuminated bicycle – and that more than 20 events have still to be held before the festival closes on Sunday, September 14th.

She added: "These include a sound, video and sculpture exhibition at the Verne Citadel, a photographic exhibition at Fortuneswell, a weather and sound event on every day at Portland Bill, a series of performances at Royal Manor Theatre and exciting puppeteering outside the Cove pub and at Church Ope.

"Overall by the time the festival finishes we will have staged 50 events and public response so far has been fantastic, both locally and nationally."

"We have national and international artists taking part including Australian sculptor Michael Goldberg from Sydney and artist Paul Soulellis from New York."

"The b-side Festival is so well established and liked that we have funding available from the Arts Council until at least 2018."

EcoHomes show the way to save energy in the home

THERE are many ways of saving energy in our homes, some of them costing almost nothing, others requiring major investments. Whether we are doing it to have a greener lifestyle, or a cosier home, or to reduce our household bills, it makes sense to stop wasting heat needlessly. Reducing domestic heating in Britain would make a big difference to our demand for fossil fuel.

This weekend eighteen homes are open to the public to show how people can save energy. In one home, Rab and Mary have used recycled materials thrown out by other people to create a cosy home at little cost. Arnold and Ro rent their property, but have still installed a solar water heater, a wood-burning stove and rainwater recovery in their home in West Bexington. If they decide to move they can take it all with them. Three of the homes pay nothing for their electricity, which is all generated onsite. Many collect rainwater to reduce their water consumption.

Some measures are more expensive, but grants and loans are available. Most people have heard of the discredited Green Deal, but the new improved version has fewer restrictions and is worth exploring. Few people know about the Renewable heating Incentive (RHI), which applies to solar heating panels, biomass or pellet boilers, and heat pumps. One of the homes to open on Sunday has installed a wood pellet boiler, and the home-owner, Steve, stands to receive £14,000 RHI, which will pay most of the original cost. In other homes, a £4000 top-end solar heating system will receive grants of £2,500 of RHI, as well as free hot water.

The best way to find out what is best for you is to talk to the people who have been there and are willing to give unbiased and informed advice for free. For further information on the Open EcoHomes visit transition-townbridport.co.uk or pick up a brochure from the information centre.

Some of the visits require booking, so early reservation is essential. There is no charge.

Futurum

FUTURUM Renewable Energy Systems fully supports the Open Eco Homes Project and supports DA21 and Communities Living Sustainably having been part of their stand at the recent Dorset County Show. Futurum believe that harnessing renewable energy sources is central to our energy security and as a multiple technology provider are able to provide advice and information to help clients make the right decision on choosing the most suitable renewable energy technology for their home or business.

We are also able to advise on subsidies and incentives such as the governments Feed in Tariff and Renewable Heat Incentive.

Futurum also carry out Energy Performance Certificates (EPC's) and Green Deal Advice Reports.

We cover all renewable technologies including Solar PV, Solar Thermal, Biomass, Air and Ground Source Heat Pumps, Wind Turbines and Hydro Power.

Domestic and commercial Electric Vehicle Charge Points are also installed by our teams often via government or local subsidies.

Our product offering also includes modern low energy Infrared heaters. The range includes heating panels for walls and ceilings, mirrors, mats and underfloor heating. This amazing range of products offer health benefits and also reduce damp, condensation and mould in bathrooms and kitchens. Infrared works just like the sun's rays and heat you not the air making it more pleasant for the human body.

At Futurum we inspect, report on and repair other installers systems often for clients under insurance and legal claims right across the UK.

Whatever your renewable energy needs, Futurum Renewable Energy Systems can help you.

Cape Farewell

CAPE Farewell, Guy Martin, and John and SJ Morris invite you for the unveiling and blessing of Forcey's Tower sculpture and a picnic at Bushies Barn on 4th October 2014, 12.00!

Cape Farewell commissioned West Dorset based artist Guy Martin to engage with three farming families in Sydling St. Nicholas, Dorset, as part of the Rural Artists Residencies Programme. Guy Martin has chosen to focus his project on an historic small farm, now redundant, on Huish Farm, and created Forcey's Tower.

The Tower is named after the Forcey family who once farmed Bushes Bottom Farm and marks the centenary of their leaving in 1914. It also marks the transition of farming practice in the surrounding farms to a more sustainable way of working and living in order to preserve and protect the native flora and fauna of this area.

To celebrate this sculpture we invite you to join us at Bushies Barn for a blessing by Rev. Jonathon Swift. Bring a picnic and make an afternoon of it! Please do follow the rights of way to Bushies from any direction, or there will be a tractor and trailer to take up to 20 people leaving Huish Farm at 11.15 and returning at 2.30- 3pm. Children are very welcome. As there will be many of us, please keep all dogs on leads, bring a bag for your rubbish and be warned, loos will be behind a bush!

Make the Switch

Switch to Renewable Heating and get paid for the energy you produce.

Thanks to the Governments Renewable Heat Incentive, going green is now more rewarding.

Dorset Community Action

SAVE MONEY, CUT CARBON AND MAKE NEW FRIENDS!

THIS weekend's open ecohomes event showcases energy efficiency, renewable energy, productive gardening, off-grid living, straw-bale building and more. Go along and get inspired to do something yourself: perhaps reducing your carbon footprint, saving money on fuel, living a simpler life, or generating your own electricity.

Once inspired Transition Together is a good way to get you started. It's a Practical Action Plan filled with simple solutions that will help you spend less on energy, water, transport and food, without compromising your lifestyle. It supports groups of friends or neighbours to work together, and participants save an average of £400 on household bills.

CLS will link you up with others, provide the manuals, lend you energy monitors and come along to your first meeting to get you started.

Transition Together operates worldwide, previous participants have said:

"We just cried laughing a lot of the time, it was hilarious! Cos we were pretty hopeless the lot of us... you know when we were talking about thermostats...we didn't even know we had a thermostat."

"It was number one about getting to know people around me better, with all the benefits I think that has - the feeling of belonging, more part of where you are, share things, borrow and lend."

"It's not about who can be greenest, it's not about whipping yourself because you're not green enough, it's just about seeing how you can change your life."

Energy saving top tips

Low Cost Tips

Turn it off: Try to be aware of unnecessary lights left on, and appliances left plugged-in or on standby. Nearly all electrical and electronic appliances can safely be turned off at the plug without upsetting their systems – some satellite and digital TV recorders may need to be left plugged in so they can keep track of any programmes you want to record – but check the instructions on any appliances you aren't sure about.

A typical household could save between £45 and £80 a year just by remembering to turn off appliances left on standby.

Medium Cost Tips

Draught excluder: Unless your home is very new, you're likely to be losing some heat through draughts around doors and windows, gaps around the floor, maybe up a chimney or two, and a whole host of other little holes around the house.

Why not buy some proper draught-proofing products for the doors and windows, seal your skirting boards with silicone sealant, and fit a chimney draught excluder or sealed fire guards? DIY draught proofing of windows, doors and blocking cracks in floors and skirting boards could cost up to £200, but could save between £20 - £30 a year in a draughty home.

New heating controls: Whatever the age of your boiler, the right controls will let you set your heating and hot water to come on and off when you need them, heat just the areas of your home you want, and decide how warm you want each area to be. Installing a room thermostat, programmer and thermostatic radiator valves you could save up to £70 - £150 a year.

This also means you can then make savings by using your controls more effectively, for example, turning down your room thermostat by just one degree if it's too warm inside could save around £75

Loft insulation: We recommend having at least 270mm (ten inches) of loft insulation, so it might be worth checking whether you could make your home warmer by topping up levels of loft insulation. You could save up to £150 a year if your loft is uninsulated by installing 270mm of insulation. Even if you have some insulation by topping up from 100mm to 270mm could save around £15 a year.

Lighten your load: Have you changed all your light bulbs for low-energy ones? Even the halogen spots? You can now get LED spotlights that are bright enough to replace halogens, as well as regular energy saving bulbs ('compact fluorescent lamps' or CFLs) for pretty much everything else. They come in a variety of shapes, sizes and fittings.

If the average household replaced all their remaining old-fashioned bulbs with CFLs and all their halogens with LEDs it would cost around £110 and save around £45 a year.

Do you want to...

Save money on fuel bills?
Cut your carbon footprint?
Get to know your neighbours?

If so, Transition Together may be just what you are looking for!

So what is it?

It's a fun, practical programme that supports a group of people to save on household bills

It's an investment - you'll save around £400 a year, green your lifestyle and make new friends

We hear this nearly every day!

".....well a window is just a window"

IF YOU BELIEVE THAT, WE INVITE YOU TO PAY A VISIT TO OUR SHOWROOMS – WE'LL SHOW HOW WRONG YOU CAN BE!

We'll show you a competitor's 3 year old window, removed from a burgled house locally. Compare it with the security and quality of our "A+" rated, BRITISH lead-free Energy Plus product, and we'll let you make up your own mind. We'll advise you on the regulations you should comply to (some of our competitors seldom do) i.e. planning permission, building regulations or listed buildings consent. We'll explain our guarantees and warranties - unrivalled in the industry, which in the unlikely event of a claim, include the services of a legally binding mediator. We'll display the huge range of foiled colours available, and explain PLANITHERM glass technology, using solar gain outside and heat retention inside. We'll demonstrate our BRITISH and IRISH composite doors, and let you know where and how our competitor's doors are made.

We'll offer to let you peruse our files of letters of thanks and appreciation from satisfied clients, including a 5 star Which? report for service and value.

Gas Safety Week

Keeping our nation safe

15th - 21st September

www.gassaferegister.co.uk

GAS Safety Week is a national safety campaign to raise awareness of gas safety in the UK's 23 million gas fuelled homes. It is co-ordinated by Gas Safe Register with support from the gas industry including retailers, manufacturers, consumer bodies and the public.

Gas Safety Week 2014 will take place 15th-21st September 2014, with national advertising, media coverage and events throughout the week. Gas safety messages will reach far and wide right at the start of heating season.

Why get involved?

Be part of a national safety campaign, joining thousands of organisations across the UK to help people stay safe as well as raising the profile of your organisation. Here are some of the reasons that businesses take part:

- Corporate social responsibility - help to protect your customers and save lives.

- September is the start of the heating season, many people will be turning on their boilers.
- Gas Safety Week is a national campaign with extensive national and regional media coverage - the campaign reached over 150 million people in 2013.

- 25% of organisations who took part in Gas Safety Week 2013 saw an increase in business.
- Over 2,700 organisations supported Gas Safety Week 2013 - don't miss out to your competitors.
- Improve your brand awareness - all supporters appear on the website.

Keep your home safe

BADLY fitted and poorly serviced gas cookers, fires and boilers can put you at risk from carbon monoxide poisoning, gas leaks, fires and explosions. Just like you get your car MOT every year, you should have your home gas safety checked every year by a Gas Safe registered engineer.

- ✓ Check your gas appliances every year
- ✓ Check your engineer is Gas Safe registered
- ✓ Check your engineer's Gas Safe ID card

Top tips to stay Gas Safe

We rely on our gas boilers, cookers and fires to keep warm, have hot baths and showers and cook hot meals. It's important that gas appliances are safety checked every year and regularly serviced to help keep us safe and prevent them from breaking down when we need them the most.

Stay Gas Safe in your home with these top tips:

1. Always use a Gas Safe registered engineer to fit, fix and service gas appliances in your home – it's the law and will help keep you safe.
2. Always ask to see an engineers Gas Safe Register ID card and check the back of the card to ensure they are qualified to carry out the specific type of gas work you need.
3. Have all your gas appliances, including boilers, gas cookers and gas fires, safety checked every year.
4. Find a Gas Safe registered engineer in your area or call the free helpline on 0800 408 5500
5. Unsafe gas appliances can put you at risk of carbon monoxide poisoning, gas leaks, fires and explosions. Recognise the symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning – headaches, dizziness, nausea, breathlessness, collapse and loss of consciousness.

6. Check gas appliances for warning signs that they are not working properly e.g. lazy yellow flames instead of crisp blue ones, black marks or stains on or around the appliance and too much condensation in the room.
7. Buy an audible carbon monoxide alarm for your home and make sure it is located near to your gas appliances in accordance with the manufacturer's guidance. Carbon monoxide can leak from appliances and kill.
8. Only use gas appliances for their intended purpose e.g. don't use a gas oven to heat a room or use a gas barbecue inside the house.
9. Always ensure there is enough ventilation for your gas appliances to allow them to burn correctly and make sure you are not blocking any air vents that provide an air supply to the gas appliance.
10. Anybody working with gas has to be Gas Safe registered by law. Report someone working without registration or call Gas Safe Register on the free phone number 0800 408 5500.

John Bright Fencing

JOHN Bright Fencing was formed in 1982 by John and Bridget Bright and in 2003 was joined by their daughter Beth in the family business.

Initially the business was erecting fences but in 1994 larger premises were purchased allowing them to open a Country Store at Salway Ash. The site also contains a workshop, and therefore, John Bright is now your one stop shop for sheds, fencing, gates, animal feed, everything for the householder, gardener, fencer, small holder or farmer!

When you visit John Bright Fencing's Country Store you will be greeted by Davina, Chris, Philip or Jamie where you can browse or they are happy to give advice on fencing or any of the products.

The fencing available is not just wooden, as now galvanised parkland railing is very popular, together with chain link fencing, rabbit wire - to keep them in or out, stock fencing and barbed wire for the garden or field.

John Bright's delivery service is twice weekly. They have four teams of fully experienced fencers who erect all types of fencing, and offer a free estimating service, where either John or Chris will visit your property giving sound advice which will be followed by a written estimate.

In the workshop, the competent carpenters turn out hardwood garden furniture, softwood and hardwood gates and doors to any design, dog kennels, poultry housing etc. our display area has all sizes of apex and pent sheds on display together with lovely Summer houses, which allow you to enjoy the sun but keep out of the sneaky winds, also picnic tables, arches, garden panels and animal housing.

Sherborne Turf

ESTABLISHED for over 40 years, Sherborne Turf is situated in the picturesque village of Trent in Dorset, where they have around 150 acres of quality farmland dedicated to the production of our Trent Turf.

Grown without netting, Sherborne Turf use a blend of grasses developed over the years that will knit together to form a firm base, and leave the turf in the ground for 18 months before harvesting. It is then freshly cut to order and delivered using their own vehicles. While the trade standard for delivery is 'kerb-side', they realise that this is not always practical for customers, and so the experienced drivers always endeavour to place the items as conveniently as possible for you, a service which is often not provided by other companies.

Although their core business is turf production, Sherborne Turf also supply a full range of locally sourced topsoil, compost, bark and mulch. Other essential garden items include fertiliser, irrigation equipment, landscape accessories, and a full range of seed mixes to grow wildflowers and grasses for companion sowing.

Sherborne Turf's delivery vehicles include an artic with removable forklift, a 6-wheel rigid crane lorry, and a pick up truck with trailer. They also have access to a wide range of vehicles for bulk loads of topsoil, compost and bark.

All of the staff at Sherborne Turf have experience of the products they sell, and are happy to discuss any aspect of your garden project. Their website www.sherborneturf.co.uk contains detailed information, practical advice, and even has an interactive calculator.

Plant Heritage

Heritage Plant Fair at Athelhampton House

EACH year, Plant Heritage Dorset Group, holds a specialist Plant Fair at Athelhampton House, near Puddletown in May to raise funds for Plant Conservation Lectures and Events in Dorset. Following the success of this year's May Plant Fair, the owners of Athelhampton House have kindly offered the use of the grounds for an Autumn Fair on Sunday, September 14th. Although the Fair will focus primarily on plants, there will also be craft and local produce stalls to enjoy as well. The Fair will be attended by numerous local, specialist nurseries offering a wide range of shrubs, perennials and some difficult to find plants. There will also be many end-of-season bargains on offer and visitors will be able to meet specialist growers, who grow their own plants.

Admission to Athelhampton House and Gardens normally costs £12.50 but entry to the Plant Fair on 14th Sept will cost just £5.00 and will include admission to the House and Gardens. The Plant Fair is open from 10.30am until 3pm but the attractive Gardens remain open until 5pm. There is free parking and there are excellent refreshment facilities in the Topiary Restaurant, including a Sunday Carvery from 12 noon until 2.30pm. Athelhampton House is easy to find, just off the A35 Dorchester - Bere Regis trunk road. The Postcode is DT2 7LG.

Plant Heritage is the World's Leading Garden Plant Conservation Charity and administers the National Plant Collections Scheme in the UK. There are 15 of these unique collections in Dorset. Please go to www.nccpg.com for more details.

WHAT TO DO THIS WEEK

- BRING in house plants that have been standing outdoors in the summer, before they succumb to cooler weather.
- PLANT daffodil bulbs, which begin their root growth earlier than most bulbs.
- PLANT out spring-flowering biennials including wall-flowers and forget-me-nots in their flowering positions.
- STORE apples and pears for use over the winter.
- CONTINUE to pick sweet peas to encourage further flowers.
- PLANT dwarf bulbs such as crocus in lawns and grassy banks and scillas and chionodoxas in pots.
- PROTECT the ripening fruit of plums and cherries from birds and squirrels. Pick the fruit as it becomes ripe but watch out for wasps when picking.

• LIFT and divide five-year-old clumps of perennial herbs such as bergamot and lemon balm, discarding the old woody centres and replanting in new positions.

• REDUCE watering orchids indoors as growth slows down and apply the last feed. From the end of September until next April no feeding is necessary.

Nectar Plants

NECTAR Plants in Upwey, Weymouth is one of those old-fashioned nurseries which still grows many of the plants that they sell. It is a very small family business situated on the Dorchester Road, which is largely hidden from the road by a large Copper Beech tree and a hedge.

Nectar Plants opened in late March this year and specialises in plants to attract bees and butterflies, remaining open until mid-October.

Although relatively new to the Dorset Horticulture scene, Martin, Cathy & Ernie Young are all experienced gardeners and Martin used to breed butterflies and moths as a teenager and has had an interest in plants which attract pollinators for over 40 years. He is also an active member of Plant Heritage which administers the 15 National Plant Collections in Dorset.

Visitors are welcome to the Nursery on Friday, Saturday and Sunday and will find a good selection of reliable, hardy plants for sale growing in situ in the garden. Those plants which are not grown on site are carefully selected and collected from local growers in Dorset, Devon, Somerset and Hampshire. Sadly, there is no coffee shop, clothing franchise or BBQ display; just perennials, lots of shrubs and few small specimen trees. They can give you advice about plants and plant problems and can offer a visiting garden advice and design service

plus a plant finding service for something unusual. Trees, large orders and compost is delivered free of charge to local customers. Horticultural lectures and talks are also offered to Horticultural Societies and other interested groups. Nectar Plants will close during the winter months to undertake propagation of new plants for the following year but they are happy to provide talks and garden visits all year round.

If you would like to visit Nectar Plants, it is situated on the Dorchester Road in Upwey, Weymouth, half-way between the Broadway Stores and the Mazda Garage. The Postcode is DT3 5LG. From now until mid-Oct they have many

WINTER IS COMING, BE PREPARED...

- Storm proof fencing
- Guaranteed for 25 years

AT LAST! Storm proof fencing that can resist gusts of up to 130mph – and will never rot.

Once in a lifetime storms seem to occur every year now with high winds, wild rain and destruction. Let your fence be one thing you don't have to worry about when the weather is at its worst.

Finally, the alternative to timber fencing, that goes up and stays up....

Colourfence fencing solutions are made from innovative Colorbond steel, virtually maintenance free with an occasional wash down with water to keep it looking as good as new – so you never need to pick up that paintbrush again! We guarantee your fence will remain unspoiled for at least 25 years, even against gusts of 130mph!

Available in a variety of heights and colours with or without trellis, our skilled installation team will make short work of transforming your garden.

The best news is the pricing is just as attractive, starting costs are in line with comparable traditional systems but offer the ongoing peace of mind you're your investment will continue to save time and money year after year.

For those of us who want a maintenance free garden, Colourfence promises a lifetime of hassle-free enjoyment.

70s group back together in Bridport

HERON RETURN TO THE LYRIC THEATRE

Heron

THERE'S a special little musical treat winging its way to the Lyric Theatre in Bridport on Saturday, September 13th September, when 70s band Heron is returning after two years to perform some old and new songs.

Their most recent albums Simple as One Two Three and Joker Man marked a return to their original line-up, formed in 1968, with Roy Apps, Tony Pook, GT Moore and Steve Jones. They have enjoyed a loyal, if cult, following for many years, especially in Japan where they are due to tour early next year. Heron have a particular affection for the Lyric Theatre, as they were the first band to perform there after the theatre opened its doors.

Band member Steve Jones, a familiar face on Bridport's music scene, says, "It's going to be a special occasion because the band members live as far apart as Dorset, Berks, Sussex and Belgium and we don't get to perform together as often as we would like."

Hailing from the singer/songwriter era, Heron's songs are summery, melodic and reflective – and guaranteed to enhance that feelgood factor!

Tickets are £10, available from Bridport Arts Centre: 01308 424204 / www.bridport-arts.com. Doors open at the Lyric Theatre at 7:30pm and the gig starts at 8pm. For more information and news visit www.the-lyric.com or call 01308 423951.

DOING JUSTICE TO THE DUKE

Evening of Ellington entertainment

FINALLY returning to the Marine Theatre on Friday, September 12th, the celebrated Ellingtonia Band, one of the UK's leading Duke Ellington bands, have from the very beginning delighted audiences with an authoritative delivery of the Duke Ellington catalogue. The band formed in 2004 and features nine powerful musical personalities, who combine to present an authentic account of this unique music that is full of energy, expressiveness and passion.

Their devotion to Ellington's music has led to performances at various prestigious jazz clubs and jazz festivals. In 2008, Ellingtonia was invited to perform at the international Ellington '08 Festival in London for a special concert with Buster Cooper and Art Baron, former members of the Duke Ellington Orchestra. Art has performed with Bruce Springsteen, Buddy Rich, Stevie Wonder – and now Ellingtonia!

A truly memorable evening of great musical entertainment is guaranteed.

Ellingtonia play at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis on Friday, September 12th. Doors open 7.45pm with the band onstage at 8.30pm. Tickets are £12 and £10 (concessions). For more details or to book tickets, contact TIC on 01297 442138 or visit www.marinetheatre.com

WESSEX FOOD FESTIVAL BACK FOR THIRD YEAR

WEYMOUTH COLLEGE, CRANFORD AVENUE, WEYMOUTH
Saturday, September 13th and Sunday, September 14th

NOW in its third year, we are delighted to be bringing back the best of West Country food, drink and chefs together for a weekend of eating, drinking and cookery demonstrations, workshops and much much more, where you can take home some wonderful gourmet goodies.

The event is being sponsored by Meyers Estate Agents – Dorset's latest, fastest growing 24/7, family run, independent estate agency; the fabulous Dorset Brewing Company, Mark Radford Kitchens and Air FM Weymouth and Portland's newest radio station who will be broadcasting live from the show on both days.

There will be over 60 stands selling everything from olives to oils, wine to wood, cakes to coffees, ales to asparagus, sushi to shellfish, Spanish produce to sweets, preserves to pints, puddings to pies, tarts to tea and a host of food accessories including aprons, mugs, graters, cheeseboards and domestic pots.

In the college square will be the food court where you can take a break from buying wonderful produce to take home - to sit and enjoy morning coffee, wonderful lunches including a variety and meat and vegetarian options, delicious fish dishes from the Hive Beach Cafe and gourmet Spanish dishes.

There will be live music in the square throughout the weekend as well as childrens entertainment.

Top West Country chefs will be demonstrating their amazing talents, with a chance for you to sample their cooking, and a chance to enter our prize draw and win a dinner for two at one of the chef's restaurants, along with other wonderful prizes. All proceeds from the draw will go to our chosen charity this year which is raising money for a charity cycle ride in India in aid of the Joseph Weld Hospice; so please come along and give generously.

Take part in 'hands-on' workshops in the College kitchens where college chefs will help you prepare bread, pasta or a delicious dessert. There is a small additional cost of £5 for the workshop to cover tuition and the cost of ingredients. We can only accept 8 people for each workshop so booking before the show is advisable. Phone 07529760215 to secure your place.

The Festival will be open on both days from 10am – 5pm. We have kept the entrance fee the same as last year only £2.50 for adults, £2 for concessions and children under 16 are free.

Come along and have an amazing day. Come early – stay late!

Propeller return with Pocket Dream

FOLLOWING the huge success with their interpretation of Pocket Henry V at the beginning of the year, the highly prestigious Propeller Theatre Company is returning to the South West with a beautifully portrayed pocket-sized version of A Midsummer Night's Dream.

Propeller's 60-minute version of Shakespeare's humorous and enchanting tale comes to Bridport Arts Centre TODAY (Wednesday, September 10th) and the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis next Wednesday, September 17th.

Pocket Dream is a revival of the first ever production in the Pocket Propeller initiative, which began in 2009, and is designed to provide the perfect introduction to Shakespeare for all audiences including young people. Previous Pocket Propeller shows have included Pocket Comedy (a version of The Comedy of Errors), Pocket Merchant (The Merchant of Venice) and Pocket Henry V.

Propeller's award-winning production of A Midsummer Night's Dream has played to packed houses around the world. Love and illusion collide in Shakespeare's most magical play, when two pairs of lovers become entangled in fairy mischief on the eve of a Royal Wedding. Dreams and reality become interchangeable within the romantic chaos that ensues, and misplaced passions are ignited as appearances become ever more deceptive.

The show is performed at Bridport Arts Centre TODAY (September 10th) at 1pm and 7.30pm. For more details call 01308 424204 or visit www.bridport-arts.com

The performance at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis, is next Wednesday, September 17th at 1.30pm and 8pm (call 01297 442138 or visit the website at www.marinetheatre.com for more details.

An evening with Sunny Ormonde

THE well-known and much loved BBC Radio 4's The Archers is the longest running radio soap opera in the world; first broadcast in 1951 and stacking up a staggering 17,173 episodes (last recorded in 2013). Set in the fictional village of Ambrose, their storylines are renowned for being compellingly varied and diverse, including the wild adventures of Lilian Bellamy.

Sunny Ormonde has been playing the "outrageous and raunchy" Lilian Bellamy for the past 13 years and has become one of listeners' favourite characters. Her antics have kept the nation both gripped and entertained, whether it be drinking The Bull dry with Eddie Grundy, absconding to Costa Rica with her beloved and very wicked Tiger, or recklessly kicking off her sling-backs and leaping into bed with Tiger's brother Paul. Oh the repercussions!

Sunny Ormonde is heading to the Marine Theatre in Lyme Regis this Saturday, September 13th, for an evening of anecdotes, banter and favourite pieces from Sunny's long and distinguished acting career.

Whether you are an Archer's listener or not, expect a highly entertaining evening!

Film Society launches its 50th season of world cinema!

BRIDPORT Film Society has recently announced details of the film programme for its 50th anniversary season. This comprises a carefully curated selection of contemporary films from all over the world, including Europe, Japan, Afghanistan, India, Australia, Iceland, Canada and Palestine. In assembling the season, the BFS programming committee spent many hours watching and debating the merits of more than 80 films in pursuit of a balanced and inspiring programme.

In the words of one committee member, "Our 2013-14 season was widely seen as a big success and, we initially feared, perhaps a bit hard to live up to this year. However 2014 has proved to be a great year for new releases and we are confident that this season's choice of films is just as thought-provoking and rewarding – with a few surprises along the way too!"

In part-celebration of the Society's 50th anniversary, the season kicks off on Tues September 23rd with a film made in 1964, but which only reached British screens for the first time last year. 'Nothing But a Man' tells the story of a black railroad worker who falls in love with the town's preacher's daughter, and tries to maintain his respect in the racist deep South of 60s America. Said one committee member,

"This truly is a forgotten classic. A film of quiet power great dignity, it is such a privilege to be able to introduce it to Bridport's film audience." Fans of 1960s music will also love its Motown soundtrack.

Other season highlights include Mark Cousins' 'A Story of Children and Film', which screening on December 2nd will be followed by a 50th anniversary social with a special cake and bubbly; Mia Wasikowska in the Australian film, 'Tracks'; Kristin Scott-Thomas in 'Before the Winter Chill'; and the spell-binding Icelandic film 'Of Horses and Men'.

Those interested in hearing more about the early years and ongoing vision of Bridport Film Society are also invited to tune in to its upcoming Bridport FM broadcast at 11am on Friday, September 19th, which features discussion, music and interviews from three key figures in the history of the Society.

Full season details are available at www.bridportfilmsociety.com. Printed brochures are available from Bridport Arts Centre (where all films are shown); the Bookshop and Fruits of the Earth. Full season membership costs £35, and typically reaches its capacity of 200 members some time before the season starts.

The Lyric Theatre opens its doors for Heritage Open Days

BRIDPORT'S Lyric Theatre invites the public to come and explore what's behind their big green theatre doors on Barrack Street for an Open Doors Day on Saturday, September 13th.

As part of the national initiative Heritage Open Days' twenty-year celebrations, come and see the Lyric's fabulous red and gold auditorium; try your hand at puppet making in the theatre's upstairs creation space; see puppets that have been created here and take your time to look around this fabulous venue.

Niki McCretton, the owner and artistic director says, "We think this space is wonderful and want everyone in Bridport and beyond to have a chance to experience its charm too. It would be great to see people who also know the building to have a chance to revisit it if they haven't been for a while."

Stay awhile for tea and cakes, short performance slots and a talk about the history of this unique building. Other venues in the town taking part in Heritage Open Days over the weekend (11-14 September) include Bridport Town Hall, the Chantry and the Quaker Meeting House, both on South Street.

Built as an Independent Chapel in 1746, the (now) Lyric Theatre has been a Temperance Hall, the Liberal Hall and was the original Electric Palace Cinema. It was listed in 1950 and was used as the Bernard Gale School of Dancing for many years, until 2002 when Mr Gale passed away leaving a great legacy of dance in the town. The building was left empty for four years until Niki McCretton bought it in September 2010; saving the building from property developers. Upstairs is now an artist's studio and a space for creating puppets and costumes for resident theatre company Stuff & Nonsense's productions, as well as home to the Lyric's popular Puppet Club.

The Lyric is opposite The Tiger Inn, on Barrack Street. Our big green doors with the red Lyric sign on them will be wide open! The nearest car park is on East Street, two minutes' walk away.

The open day takes place this Saturday, September 13th from 10am - 2pm, and entry is free.

FORT LIGHTS UP FOR SHOW

HAVE you seen the amazing searchlight playing across Weymouth Bay? What's going on at Nothe Fort? Excitement grows as people see a small sample of the fantastic lighting effects advertising their Son et Lumiere opening tonight and running until Saturday, September 13th.

The stage is built, lights are all fixed up, rehearsals are taking place nightly and tickets are selling fast for this Sound and Light Spectacular. With a cast of ninety telling the story of Weymouth and Portland in acting, song and dance, including cannon and bugle calls, atmospheric music and fireworks on each night, the audience are in for a real treat.

Producer Martine Burt says "This is a unique production in an incredible venue and a wonderful opportunity to pull together so much local talent into one show."

Tickets are available from Nothe Fort on

See star quality at Dorchester Arts Pop Club Fundraiser

JOIN Pop Club's talented young musicians for an entertaining evening of rock and pop and the chance to bid for some fantastic prizes of true star quality.

The fundraiser is on Saturday 13th September at Dorchester Arts at 7:30pm and among the items to be auctioned on the night are a drum skin and photo signed by all the members of superstar band Coldplay. This unique piece of memorabilia is a fantastic coup for the Pop Club team as Coldplay's Viva la Vida regularly features among the songs played by the youngsters in this thriving musical club.

Another great prize will be a new electric guitar generously gifted by local Dorchester music shop Harmony Music.

Proceeds from the evening will help Pop Club enable more young people to get involved and enjoy performing and producing music within their community.

Music producer Mickey Wills will comper the evening and is certainly looking forward to it, 'Pop Club & I are very excited about this years fundraiser! It's a great opportunity for our members to show off their amazing musical skills. This year will be full of special guests & surprises. And we just can't wait to start the show!'

Pop Club has been hugely popular with local teenagers from Dorchester and the surrounding areas for many years; under the guidance of Mickey Wills, young people of all ages come together to learn and to perform a local events and festivals; they were especially entertaining for the crowd at this year's Dorchester Festival.

The club meet regularly at Dorchester Arts Centre during term time and many members have over the years formed their own bands, recorded new material and gone on to great music accomplishments.

Entry is £5 on Saturday, September 13th at 7.30pm at Dorchester Arts Centre. To book tickets visit www.dorchesterarts.org.uk or call Box Office 01305 266 926

A British Heroine of the First World War

Private breakfast tour of WWI exhibition by Curator

A PRIVATE tour of Dorset County Museum's current exhibition, A Dorset Woman at War, is taking place on Wednesday, September 17th. The tour will be led by one of the exhibition's curators, Dr Peter Down.

The tour is a great opportunity to see the exhibition up close and hear the story of a remarkable Dorset woman, Mabel St Clair Stobart, who took her medical team to the Serbian front line in 1915. Following the tour, a continental breakfast will be provided in the Museum's Tea Room.

The tour starts at 8.45am on Wednesday, September 17th and tickets cost £12.50. There are a limited number of spaces available and places must be booked in advance. For further information and to book tickets phone the Museum Shop on 01305 756827. More information on the exhibition and other events at the Museum can be found at www.dorsetcountymuseum.org.

Rowan and crab jelly

Makes approx 5 jars

ROWANBERRIES, the fruit of the mountain ash, which is very common in our region (a popular, attractive tree with widespread planting in parks and on new estates). They make the most delicious, tangy, orange red jelly, which is stunning with nutty cheeses such as Caerphilly.

Ingredients

- 1kg Rowanberries
- 1kg Crab apples
- Approx 1kg caster sugar

Equipment needed

A 4 litre capacity pan, preferably a preserving pan, a jelly bag or muslin cloth for straining

Method

Remove the rowanberries from their stalks and wash well. Cut the apples roughly and place both fruits in a pan with just enough water to cover them.

Simmer gently for about 45 minutes, or until the fruit is very soft, crushing with a potato masher, then strain through a jelly bag/muslin overnight.

Measure the juice and pour into a clean pan. Add 450gm of warmed sugar to every 600ml juice. Heat gently until the sugar has dissolved, the boil rapidly for about 10 minutes, or until setting point is reached. Pour into sterilized jars, and reserve for use.

Tomato Ketchup

Makes 5 bottles

FAIR play to Heinz!

When it comes to a brand leader, only one name really comes up relating to tomato ketchup. However, a lovely homemade ketchup harnesses the really best tomatoes at this time of year, and has a better, less sugary flavour.

Method

Add all the ingredients to a good size pan (a preserving pan would be ideal) and mix thoroughly.

Place on a gentle heat, and slowly bring to the boil, stir from time to time to ensure the sugar dissolves.

On a low heat simmer for two hours, stir from time to time to prevent the ketchup sticking (and burning) to the bottom of the pan.

Ingredients

- 1.5 kg best ripe, deep red tomatoes, chopped into eighths
- 2 medium onions, peeled and rough chopped
- 6 cloves garlic, crushed
- 3cm fresh ginger root, peeled and fine chopped
- 4 cloves
- 4 bay leaves
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon powder
- 300gm cider vinegar
- 200gm pineapple juice
- 300gm caster sugar
- 2 dessertspoons good quality tomato puree

Equipment needed

- a 4 litre capacity thick bottomed pan (preferably a preserving pan), a blender, 5x 400ml bottles or kilner jars

Allow to cool and settle for an hour. Blend the ketchup thoroughly so smooth and silky, pour into properly sterilized bottles/jars.

The ketchup should keep for three months, keep in fridge once open.

Autumn Bliss

with Tierra Kitchen's award-winning chef Mark Evans

SEPTEMBER really does seem to spell out the start of a new season. After six weeks of school holidays (they're back), it's first job to deal with the wreckage of the house, then get some serious new dishes on the menu.

The first half of the Autumn is the most exciting time to be a chef, with an abundance of rich earthy flavours; wild mushrooms, Autumn squashes, kale and chard. Fitting these into a flavour jigsaw with the best home grown fruits of the year and the abundance of wild sloes, blackberries, rowan and crab apples makes this a very busy time. For me it's also a bit of a nervy time; trying to juggle keeping up with a busy restaurant and planning to preserve, bottle and pickle all these fantastic ingredients ready for Christmas (Aaarrghh, not the C word) and the leaner times of the forthcoming Winter.

We've included two recipes this month which try to capture the brilliant flavours of this time, which will keep well into the Winter. Our tomato ketchup recipe is simple to make and is less sugary than the popular supermarket brand. Rowanberries are common throughout our area and make an incredible tangy jelly which lifts any Winter savoury dish.

New Audi A6 Range Ready for an Even Cleaner Getaway

▲ The new Audi A6

ALREADY notable as the first conventionally powered premium executive class car to combine groundbreaking efficiency with a full, unfettered sports specification, the Audi A6 is about to shift up another gear as a new model waits in the wings. Polished by styling revisions, upgraded lighting options, a new infotainment system and new transmissions, the latest A6 Saloon and Avant ranges, which each retain ultra versions offering up to 64mpg, will open for UK ordering during September ahead of first deliveries in late 2014. Their many gains will also be shared by new A6 allroad, S6, S6 Avant and RS 6 Avant models.

"With the new Audi A6, we are writing the next chapter in an excellent success story. It represents innovative technology and Audi's premium claim," says Prof. Dr. Ulrich Hackenberg, Board Member for Technical Development at AUDI AG. "The Audi A6 sets new standards in many technical fields: the lightweight body containing many aluminum components, the powerful and highly efficient engines, the sporty chassis and the advanced assistance and multimedia systems."

The sharp lines and taut surfaces which already create an impression of elegance delivered with meticulous precision in the A6 have been carefully honed as part of the model update. Revisions have been made to the Single-frame grille, the air inlets, the bumpers, the side sills, the rear lights and the tailpipes. One particular exterior highlight is the addition of xenon headlamps as standard for UK A6 SE models, and LED headlights with dynamic 'sweeping' rear indicators for S line versions and above. Matrix LED headlights, incorporating clusters of LED bulbs which can be individually dimmed when sensors detect oncoming or following traffic to automatically divert their beams around obstacles, are optional for all A6 and S6 variants and standard for the RS 6 Avant.

Lighter, brighter S line option

The sinewy style of the exterior is echoed in the car's spacious interior, which in the Avant is combined with a 565-litre load bay that can be expanded to 1,680 litres. Every detail attests to an uncompromising approach to quality, and the elegant colours and carefully selected materials emphasize the premium class ambience. A new Lunar Silver upholstery and headlining colour choice for S line versions, which have until now been available finished exclusively in black, is one advantage offered by the new model, as are subtle detail enhancements, including an upgrade from dual-zone to deluxe four-zone climate control, new gear lever designs and additional chrome detailing.

Technology aficionados will also appreciate the upgraded infotainment options, which include new versions of the top-of-the-line MMI navigation plus and Audi connect elements. Based around an eight-inch retractable colour monitor, MMI navigation plus is available as an alternative to the standard navigation system. It now uses an even more powerful Tegra 30 graphics processor from Audi's partner Nvidia, and includes MMI touch, which enables the driver to scroll and zoom in lists and maps via a touchpad. Audi connect now brings tailored Internet-based services and new media streaming apps to the car via the latest LTE high-speed data transmission standard for ultra-fast 4G click-through and download functionality.

The Audi phone box option is also now available – it enables occupants to connect their mobile phones to the car's antenna for improved reception simply by placing them in the phone box compartment.

The range of driver assistance systems, topped by adaptive cruise control with stop & go function, is also extremely attractive. Audi side assist, which uses radar to check behind the car when changing lanes, works closely together with Audi active lane assist, which prevents unintended lane changes. The night vision assistant now includes even more functions, and the portfolio of Audi pre sense safety systems is also available to further enhance protection. Important information can be called up via the optional head-up display.

Extensively updated EU6 engines

In the UK the engine line-up for the new A6 and A6 Avant will comprise four TDI engines with either four or six cylinders and either single or twin turbo charging. All engines comply with the limits of the Euro 6 emission standard, and their CO2 emissions have been reduced by as much as 22 percent. As before, the most efficient engine – the 2.0-litre TDI four-cylinder with 190PS – is reserved for ultra versions of the Saloon and Avant which combine strong performance, hushed refinement and the potential to return up to 64mpg with CO2 output from as little as 114g/km. Despite its sports styling, 18-inch alloy wheels and extensive specification, even the A6 2.0 TDI ultra S line Saloon with S tronic transmission achieves these exceptional economy and emissions figures.

Divine DS: Capturing The Essence of the DS Brand

WITH more than 500,000 vehicles sold worldwide since the launch of DS 3 in 2010, DS is building on its success and is now a brand in its own right. Designed and created in Paris, the DIVINE DS concept is an expression of the brand's DNA and captures the very essence of DS.

UNIQUE STYLING CUES

DIVINE DS is a compact 4-door vehicle, 4.21m long and 1.98m wide. It is characterised by its powerful and charismatic styling, with taut lines and a low driving position (1.35m high). Strong, sensual curves contrast with graphic features sculpted in chrome. DIVINE DS features metallic grey bodywork with a subtle shimmer that accentuates its lines. The body style captivates the observer at first glance with bold styling cues that reflect the image of DS.

The wide, powerful front end features the 'DS Wings' signature that was first seen on DS 5LS. With DIVINE DS, this has been accentuated and is more upright for a heightened sense of prestige. In the centre, the radiator grille provides a stunning setting for the DS emblem. Floating diamond shapes, of different sizes and in varying shades of chrome, reflect light to give the radiator grille a 'spatial' effect.

Viewed from the side, the lines of DIVINE DS form a sharp sweep along the length of the car, with the first stroke of the designer's pen clearly visible. The dramatic waistline emerges as a circle around the rear lights and tapers away naturally at the front. Underlined by a chrome strip, this distinctive signature makes the whole body appear tauter and more dynamic. The chrome strip also cleverly conceals the door handles. On the lower side panels is a line of finely sculpted chrome, subtly highlighting the elegant body shape and bringing to mind the interior console design.

Another major styling highlight is the roof, which is truly unique with a design resembling the scales of a reptile. Playing on contrasts, these scales feature alternating effects – matt and satin, opaque and transparent – to play on the light inside and outside the car through changing reflections. The scale pattern extends over the rear window and can also be seen on the door mirrors. This forms a unique and enchanting display that contrasts with the sensual curves of the car's rear.

AN AVANT-GARDE INTERIOR DISPLAY

The cabin of DIVINE DS also features a spectacular display of contrasts, between the contours and relief of the driver's cockpit and the flowing lines of the passenger seat.

On the passenger side, a single continuous drape enfolds the console and dashboard, forming a twist as it reaches the door inserts. The airy-looking drape enfolds the passenger, taking them into a world of haute couture, far removed from conventional automotive standards – a truly original sensory experience.

The driver's side is a showcase of advanced technology. The central console, which resembles a 'backbone' for the car, sets out the driving functions. Its white gold covering is both crystalline and majestic, contributing to the refinement and sophistication of this original interior. Main features include special toggle switches decorated with carefully selected gemstones and, in the middle, a digital clock with a stone set in its surround. In this instance, black granite is used with gold speckles that echo the design of the central console. The rectangular steering wheel is a work of sculpture, promising new driving sensations.

The seats represent a new and visually striking take on the existing DS watch strap design. They are upholstered in full-grain aniline leather that was selected, by the Seton tannery, for its exceptional quality and specially tanned finish. The warmth of the grey colour highlights the metallic touches of white gold and each separate ambience.

At the rear, the absence of a rear window immerses the passengers in an intimate, sophisticated cocoon.

A NEW AUTOMOTIVE EXPERIENCE: 'HYPER-TYPAGE'

DS is introducing a new concept with DIVINE DS: 'Hyper-typage'. This completely new philosophy extends far beyond the idea of personalisation by bringing customers a choice of interior trim worthy of haute couture fashion, with premium materials rarely seen in the automotive industry. Based on a dashboard and door scrolls that can be changed in just 15 minutes, a choice of three interior ambiances is available. Three 'dress codes' can be swapped to suit the appropriate ambience, embodying three radically different personalities.

'Hyper-typage' is a bold concept that gives life to DIVINE DS. This exclusive feature underlines the ambition of DS to bring customers vehicles that fully reflect their personalities.

Weymouth ~Golf Club

BY STUART BROOM

Charity week celebrates 25th anniversary

WEYMOUTH Golf Club celebrated its 25th annual Charity Week of Golf with visitors attending from as far afield as Cornwall, Gloucester, and Sussex. The course, which was in magnificent condition, hosted the largest ProAm in the southwest and together with the rest of the events - including top hospitality in the clubhouse - it made the whole week a complete success in raising funds specifically for local charities, worthy causes and individuals in the Weymouth and Portland area.

Chairman Bob Mico, thanked both the sponsors and competitors for their continued support which has enabled more than £200,000 to be donated over the 25 years.

Results: 4 BBB: 1st: J Pool & M Webb (Knowle) 39pts; 2nd: J Cox & H Sayers (Yeovil) 39pts on count back; 3rd: R Peek & G Travers (Merrick Park) 37pts

Youth Cricket

Play! Indoor Youth league to resume

THE West Dorset Youth Indoor Cricket League will resume after the summer break on Saturday, September 29th at The Osprey Leisure Centre.

The popular and successful league will once again have three age groups and it is hoped that it will prove to be as competitive as last year with many results going down to the last over or wicket.

West Dorset Under14/15s coach and League coordinator Grant Neven feels that the support shown by the clubs for their youngsters has been invaluable and has gone a long way to improving the standard of play throughout the West of the county.

He praised all the youngsters, their clubs and supporters. "The commitment by clubs, parents, coaches and supporters has paid dividends; the standard of play produced by the youngsters has been awesome at all age groups."

"The players are progressing and on return to their clubs providing a solid future for cricket in the west of the county."

The organisers are once again grateful to The Osprey Centre for providing sponsorship and support.

England player to coach youngsters

WEYMOUTH and District Table Tennis League (WDTTL) are to launch a series of new projects as they embark on a new season.

As well as resuming regular Saturday coaching for youth players from beginners through to advanced players, the Weymouth League are keen to expand the chances for more groups to play the game.

Table tennis for disabled players: Table Tennis England recently hosted a disability awareness day at All Saints School, attended by WDTTL adult and youth players as well as coaches from the south, including Southampton, Bournemouth and the Isle of Wight.

Run in partnership with Sport England, the event centred on welcoming disabled individuals and groups to venues, and working together with carers to provide an environment for disabled players to enjoy the game.

Experienced wheelchair player and coach Shaun Newcomb who is also vice-chairman of the British Table Tennis Association for People with Disabilities and chairman of the selection panel, was the tutor for the event. He is also the lead coach for the south/south east regional disability squad and occasionally coaches Development and Pathway players both nationally and internationally.

Of the event he said: "It's great to see disability coaching initiatives spreading throughout Dorset, and its enthusiastic and capable people like those on this course who make it happen for our sport."

The aim is now to set up a regular table tennis session for players with disabilities, whether that is a physical, hearing or visual impairment or a learning disability, and the WDTTL is keen to hear from any groups who would be interested in this opportunity.

Primary after-school club: After school clubs have been successfully introduced into most secondary schools in the district and now the Weymouth League are forming an after-school club solely for primary school pupils.

Andy Millar now visits several primary schools, and there is an increasing demand from younger players to play the sport. It would be difficult to operate a club out of every school, so every primary school is invited to the new club.

It will be based at All Saints School and run every Monday from 4.45pm to 5.45pm. The cost is just £1 to attend, and the aim is to introduce the sport to all abilities, boys and girls, in a series of fun on and off table games. The first club started on Monday (September 8th).

Weymouth League squads: This coming season Weymouth has entered five teams into the National Junior League (under 18) and National Cadet League (under 15). With this in mind and to help Weymouth players continue to improve, England international Matt Ware will be a visiting coach every Monday at All Saints School from 6pm to 7.15pm.

The aim is to help our existing league players make the jump to national competition, and also to help the development of younger players.

Matt will also be coaching an adult session for Weymouth League players from 7.30pm to 8.30pm. The sessions will cost £2.50 and started last Monday (September 8th).

For more details on any of the above projects and Saturday youth sessions please contact Andy Millar on a.millar212@gmail.com or 07710 507075.

◆ ENCOURAGED: Tutor Shaun Newcomb who is also vice-chairman of the British Table Tennis Association for People with Disabilities was encouraged by the event.

Dorchester's promotion chances extinguished

◆ DOGGED INNINGS: Martinstown's Henry Lewis whose half century kept his side in the game until Ross Stewart's explosive finish

DESPITE a valiant attempt from skipper Dan Belt, Dorchester's promotion dreams were extinguished by Sherborne who by virtue of their 38 run victory over the county town will be promoted as champion and despite Martinstown's first victory in the play-offs, the result put paid to their very faint chances of back to back promotions.

Meanwhile Poole Town clinched the Dorset League championship by condemning Weymouth to their fifth consecutive play-off defeat.

Dorset Funeral Plan League Premier League 1

POOLE TOWN 297-7 BEAT

WEYMOUTH 113 ALL OUT BY 184 RUNS POOLE Town swept a weakened Weymouth aside away as they claimed the Premier Championship title. Having scored a massive 297-7, they skittled Weymouth for just 113 all out with Matt Lawes the only one to offer any resistance with a redoubtable 67.

So poor was the rest of the Weymouth batting that with extras accounting for another 26 runs, the other ten members could only muster 20 runs between them.

Two Poole batsmen, Badul Alam and Michael Porter both helped themselves to half centuries as the Seaside labourers in the field, with only Harry Tucker 3-56 with much to show for his efforts.

Premier League 2
SHERBORNE 210-9 BEAT

DORCHESTER 172 ALL OUT BY 38 RUNS DORCHESTER failed to return to the top flight at the first attempt when they were beaten by Sherborne who as a result will be promoted.

Having restricted the hosts to 210-9 in their allotted overs they looked on course at 133-2 to get the win that would have taken the title to the last game of the season, but despite a valiant unbeaten 70 from captain Dan Belt, the dismissal of Simon Mitchem for 40, saw the other six wickets fall for just 39 runs.

Dorchester got the start they needed when Sherborne batted as Belt (2-47) bowled Luke Hancock in the first over and James Dunham (1-33) trapped Carter leg before with the score 14-2.

However, the hosts middle order batted sensibly and with Lock top scoring with 67 they took the score to 178-4 before Eamonn Scott with 5-45 saw them lose five wickets for just 26 runs as they posted a target of 211 to win.

David Barnstable (3-35) had Dorchester 24-2 having bowled both Marcus Evans (4) and Ian Legg (2), but Belt and Mitchem appeared to have turned the game Dorchester's way with a stand of 109 before Andrew Nulton (4-18 from 10 overs) turned the game on his head.

Despite Belt's dogged innings he could prevent Nulton and Tim Durston (2-30) from sweeping through the lower order to claim the Premier League 2 title for Sherborne.

MARTINSTOWN 224-5 BEAT

BERE REGIS 143 ALL OUT BY 81 RUNS ROSS Stewart smashed an incredible unbeaten 80 off just 32 balls as Martinstown finally won a play-off game.

Smarting from four defeats in the League 2 play-offs after leading the league during the final weeks, the hosts were struggling to set a competitive total against Bere Regis and were 136-4 when Stewart strode to the crease.

He took a few balls to get his eye in before sending the visiting fielders to all corners of Lower Ashton Farm as he and Ryan Chase (7 not out) smashed 75 runs from the final five overs.

Batting first Dave Herbert (18) and Henry Lewis put on 35 for the first wicket, but with some nagging bowling from Dean Rogerson and Pete Macklin, Martinstown struggled.

Sam Kershaw (29) and Tom Adams (14) with a couple of lusty blows, helped the steady Lewis, who was eventually run out for a solid and patient 56, before enter Stewart to let fly with seven 4s and five 6s to put his side back in the driving seat.

Bere Regis also found runs hard to come by and soon succumbed to the bowling of Chase (4-22) and Liam Banfield (4-48) who snared the dangerous Macklin, who having hoisted the off spinner for two big sixes immediately prior, was comprehensively bowled by a clever slower ball as he went for the third.

Despite an unbeaten 31 from David Griffiths, he was unable to find anyone to stay with him, leaving Martinstown easy winners.

Bridport bowls

Ladies confirm league title

BRIDPORT Ladies confirmed their status as Dorset Women's Division One champions by winning all three rinks against Broadstone and a comprehensive 76-36 victory.

In losing just three of their 18 games they finished well clear of runners-up Blandford.

Margaret Clapp, Sheila Jones, Alison Tibble and Frances Hewitt won 28-17, with Melodie Watts, Rosemary Brooks, Marion Carter and Pamela Daters 25-19 also victorious. The biggest winning margin was that of Pat Cornick, Barbara Iverson, Janet Tattershall and Laura Taylor who triumphed 23-10.

Despite winning four of the seven rinks against Barleston Tourists, Bridport lost the friendly 125-134. In a close game, the top local rink was that of Alan Cowdrey, Mel Griffiths, Chris Minas and Alan Skelton who won 32-15.

Again despite winning three rinks in their mixed friendly at Tiverton, Bridport lost 100-120, with Marion Carter, Mike Smith, Dave Smith, and Roy Lidington top rink with a 24-12 victory.

An interesting friendly on Sunday saw Bridport beat visitors The Timber Trundlers who play with lignium woods 127-112. Top rink by one shot M Smith, S Jones, Dave Roberts and Joan Griffiths 26-15.

Conisbee in final

BRIAN Conisbee and Sue Walsh will contest this year's Bridport & West Dorset indoor bowls Summer Singles Final.

Conisbee had to come from behind to book his place. Trailing Ann Turtell 14-18 he produced a great 2,1,1,3 finish to win 21-18.

Walsh opened up with 4,2 counts in her semi-final before Mike Long got going, but at 15-13 to Walsh it was anyone's match. However another four count ended Long's challenge with Walsh going on to win 21-14.

In the pair's final, Lyn Craddock and Annie Legg will play Margaret Pestelle and Martin Grier.

In the Morning League Lynx who won Section A of the Morning League will play Section B winners Wildcats to decide the overall champions.

Ladies back in training

BEAMINSTER Ladies Hockey Club are back in training for the new season that starts at the end of September, and are looking for new players to join a squad of players that finished third last season.

Training takes place on the astroturf at The Sir John Colfox School on Tuesday nights between 7pm and 8pm, and as well as current players, the club are hoping that there are new players looking to take up the sport or resume playing again or have just moved to the area.

All ages and abilities are welcome and kit such as sticks etc, are available.

For new members they are offering free subscription throughout September, so why not give it a go?

Bees news

Millers crushed by busy Bees

BRIDPORT 5 TOTTON & ELING 0

FA Vase 1st qualifying - att: 112

BRIDPORT swept aside Totton & Eling to earn a home game against East Cowes Victoria Athletic in the FA Vase Second Qualifying Round next month.

Despite having lost all seven Wessex League Premier Division games so far this season, the Millers battled bravely to keep the Bees at bay at St Mary's Field on Saturday, and it wasn't until ten minutes before half-time that Bridport made the breakthrough with two goals inside a minute.

Despite Bridport's superiority with keeper Jamie Fry not having to make one save in the first half, the visiting defence well marshalled by Richard Hayter snuffed out most of Bridport's ideas in the final third of the field early on.

The first real excitement in either box didn't occur until the 27th minute when there were claims for a Bridport penalty when the ball appeared to strike James Embree's arm at close range, whilst the first chance of any consequence occurred three minutes later but Adam Symes scuffed his shot from Matt Morley's great run and cross down the left, and Embree easily blocked it.

Eventually Bridport finally broke the deadlock. Adam Symes played a diagonal ball into brother Jamie on the far left angle of the penalty area who took a touch before blasting a rising shot that beat keeper Nathan Goodger for pace.

Almost immediately it was two with Adam Symes once again involved in part of a good team goal. His pass set Morley away down the left again, and his cut back from the byeline found Tom Richardson who calmly sidefooted it just inside the far post from 12 yards.

With Bridport now firmly in the driving seat, despite the Millers energy, the Bees controlled the game, and almost made it three in first half added time when Dan Wise's free-kick came back off the wall to Adam Symes. His thumping shot took a slight deflection, forcing Goodger to spectacularly palm the ball away.

Tom Hawkins almost surprised Bridport at the start of the second half, when straight from the kickoff he ran at the Bees defence beating three players before being crowded out on the edge of the penalty area as he was about to shoot. The ball ran to Embree, but Fry; called upon to make his first save of the game; made a regulation save

Three minutes later Richardson almost scored with a spectacular effort when he acrobatically dived for a cross and back-heeled the ball with his trailing foot, but it just cleared the angle of the goalframe.

With the game seemingly won, Bridport appeared to be coasting and for 20 minutes just knocked the ball around without really pressing, although another jinking run by Morley saw him cut in and fire in a right footed shot that would have crept in at the near post had Goodger not done well to get down and save.

Eventually on 70 minutes Bridport got the third goal their possession deserved; moments after manager Trevor Senior introduced his three substitutes. Immediately Bridport won a throw in deep in the right hand corner from which one of them Rhys Hayter gained possession and fired in a cross where a second, Tristan Gale, arrived to guide the ball home from close in.

Fry then had to make his second and final save; easily collecting Hayter's 35 yard effort; before Gale could have collected his hat-trick when he decided to sidefoot instead of head Wise's cross which went over the crossbar.

He was then crowded out at the far post in a repeat of his goal chance from another Rhys Hayter cross.

However, on 81 minutes Richardson firmly headed home Bridport's fourth from Wise's corner.

Then Wise added the icing on the cake with a sublime fifth a minute from the end when Chris Clarke's diagonal pass found him on the right hand angle of the penalty area.

The experienced midfielder took one touch before deftly chipping the ball into the top corner with Goodger well beaten.

Lock: A bunch of chocolate teapots

WAREHAM 2 BRIDPORT RESERVES 1

Dorset Premier League

BRIDPORT Reserves assistant manager Mark Lock likened many of his team to chocolate teapots: "They melted like chocolate teapots once things got too hot for them."

The Bees started well and created a number of chances in the first 20 minutes, but like so often last season, failed to take any of them.

WITH STUART BROOM

As a result Wareham built in confidence and started to build pressure themselves and got on top.

Although they created fewer opportunities they took one, and when the Bridport defence failed to close down Dave Best he fired them into the lead with a shot from the edge of the box.

Lock administered a fierce half-time talk dispelling unrest and finger pointing between one or two players.

The former Bees captain admired for his positive, never beaten attitude said: "We started okay, but are having problems scoring when we are on top, and although we made loads of chances we need to put the ball in the net.

"After 20 minutes Wareham seized the initiative and we allowed them to play. Consequently they grew in confidence and scored.

"As a result with things not going their way some of them melted which led to a bit of friction in the dressing room at half-time. These players need to realise they must work together, it is a team game. We are good enough to beat any side in this league on our day but one or two need to learn to get stuck in and work harder and stop blaming others."

There was an improvement after the interval and they got a deserved equaliser midway through the second-half when a well flighted free-kick from Sam Day saw the ball fall to Jack Scovell who half volleyed his shot high into the net from six yards.

However all the good work was undone when Wareham broke away down the wing and a defender got on the wrong side of his man when the cross came into the far post and Richard Parsons was on hand to score the winner.

The game finished in controversial circumstances when Russell Legg was sent off for a second yellow card in the final minutes.

Lock added: "I feel sorry for Russell, who had been booked in the first-half, as I thought the referee was trying to even up the bookings from earlier. Their player was trying to play out time in the corner and Russell fouled him trying to get the ball. It wasn't malicious, but the Wareham guy reacted by jumping up and started jostling him, a bit of small man syndrome. He didn't react but just stood his ground, but the ref booked him and Shane Evans."

MERLEY COBHAM 1

PORTLAND UNITED 0

AFTER seven straight victories, Portland's United finally lost their record when they were beaten by a Dave Weeden strike four minutes from time in this feisty encounter.

The win propels Merley above the Blues, who slip to third on goal difference.

Senior League: Portland United Reserves lost 5-1 away to South Cheriton United, the Royals goal coming from Ross Boatswain.

The Balti House served up a tasty performance to beat visitors Dorchester Sports with a brace from Charlie Kenderdine and Ricky Lane.

Chickerell United netted five without reply on their visit to Okeford through Joe Charles (2), Josh Why, Warren White and Steven Churchill.

Division One: Eichard Beasley scored a hat trick as Kangaroos and newly promoted Lytchett Red Triangle shared eight goals, an own goal completing the Roos goal tally.

Division Two: Portesham United beat visitors Portland Town 4-3 with their strikes coming from Matthew Croxson (2), Andrew Southern and an own goal, whilst the Islanders marksmen were Gary Prudames, Sanghez Janaz-Baker and Alex Counter.

Wyke Regis Social Club won 3-2 at Chickerell United Reserves with the hosts goals coming from Jamie Rawlins and Chucky Taylor.

Division Three: Newcomers Tisbury United started with a win beating visitors Puddletown 3-2 whose goals were scored Elliott Byerly and Matt Moors.

Maiden Newton & Cattistock played out a 2-2 draw against visitors Sturminster Newton United Reserves, with goals from Kyle Hargreaves and Billy Greenway.

Portland Town Reserves lost 6-0 at home to Mere Town Reserves.

Division Four: Newcomers Fleetline FC got off to a good start winning 2-0 at South Cheriton United Reserves.

The only other winners were Overmoigne who beat Kangaroos Reserves by a single goal scored by Adam Sargent.

Anthony Desmond scored for Portland Town A in their 1-1 home draw with Corfe Mullen United Reserves, whilst United Club of Poundbury and Portland Utd Youth also shared two goals.

Division Five: Marnhull and UFC Poundbury Reserves drew 3-3 with Luke Barnett, Matthew Murray and Jack Pynser scoring for the Dorchester side.

Clear round caps a brilliant season for Hansford

LOCAL Lyme Regis tetrathlete Mollie Hansford has capped a brilliant season by finishing second in the Open class at the National Tetrathlon Championships in Yorkshire recently.

Her team, Cotley, also finished as runners up amid very strong competition.

Earlier this summer, 17-year old Hansford was selected to represent GB team in a Five nation international in Western Australia where she helped her team to a convincing win and an impressive fourth place individually.

On her return she competed at the UK Nationals in Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire, and despite a below average shoot she fought back with a PB in the swim, the third fastest run and a fast, clear cross country round on her horse

The Beeker, to finish fifth individually, and a win for the South West team.

The National Championships followed a week later in the spectacular setting of Bishop Burton College where Hansford produced a confident shoot and strong swim to stand ninth overnight.

A spectacular PB in the 1500m run put her up to fourth before the ride phase which was conducted over the biggest course Mollie had tackled, but her horse did not disappoint, and they produced one of only 16 clear rounds within the time to score maximum points.

This was all the more impressive as The Beeker had his right eye removed this May following a long-standing eye condition.

West Bay Sea Angling

Mears trawls Plymouth waters for winner

The annual West Bay Sea Angling Club's Specimen and Species Shore Festival 2014 took place over nine days from August 9th - 17th.

Only 12 members signed on to fish this year which may have been due to an unfavourable weather forecast for the week. Most competitors chose to fish mainly from the Dorset coastline but some went as far afield as the Mountbatten Breakwater in Plymouth to try and boost their species total.

This proved a good move for Ollie Mears as he landed a rare topknot flat fish from the breakwater which took his species total to 19 and secured him the John & Frances Hunt Trophy. PJ Wheeler came a close runner up with 18, with Paul House with 15 third, beating Phil Maggs on a tiebreaker.

The David Cornick Specimen Trophy went to Craig Horton with a dogfish of 1095g, 96.56 per cent. Lesser spotted dogfish featured in all top three of the specimen winners with runner up Norman Stokes 95.2 per cent and, Gerry Reed 89.9 per cent in third Top junior was Aaron Chambers with 7 fish points, and the golden fish pool for the longest dogfish was won by Craig Horton with a specimen of 66 cm.

The pairs pool was won by Paul House and Phil Maggs who managed to land 20 different species between them giving a total of 70 fish points. A total of 32 different species were landed during the festival.

Shepherd stars in five-goal thriller

Weymouth 3 Slough Town 2

Calor Southern Premier - att: 847

WEYMOUTH continued to keep the pressure on the top teams in the Southern League Premier Division with a solid performance against Slough Town at the Bob Lucas Stadium which sees them move up to fourth with a game in hand on the sides above them.

Chris Shepherd, in sparkling form since joining the Terras, went close with a thumping shot which Slough keeper Jake Sommerville tipped over the top, before the hosts took the lead on 20 minutes.

Jacob Wannell's poor free-kick deflected off Adam Kelly to Tim Sills who made a hash of controlling the ball as he looked to turn and shoot. Fortunately the ball rebounded into the path of Kelly who crashed his shot past Sommerville who got his fingers to the ball but could not stop it.

The lead could have been doubled two minutes later when Sills chipped the keeper only for the ball to strike the base of the post. Stewart Yetton completely missed the rebound before follow up shots from George Rigg and Shepherd were expertly blocked by the diving Sommerville.

Just after the half hour Shepherd increased the Terras lead when he completed a good team move from defence that saw Sills slide the ball into the former Grecians player.

Although Sommerville once again got his fingertips to the ball it wasn't enough to prevent Shepherd's low clipped shot finding the net just inside the left hand post.

However Slough got back in the game just four minutes later through a sloppy attempted headed back pass by Jamie Laird.

His weak effort left Jason Matthew's totally exposed and he tripped Ed Smith as he went to go past him and Johnnie Dyer sent the Terras manager the wrong way from the spot.

The two-goal advantage was restored on the stroke of half-time when Shepherd was quick to beat two Rebels to a loose ball and immediately put in Yetton who neatly side-stepped Sommerville to roll the ball home.

Slough didn't take long after the restart to get back in the game.

Central defender Reece York was left unmarked and ran a full circle from the front to the back of the goal to meet a corner and from 10 yards firmly head it downwards through a melee of players stood on the line.

However, there was no further scoring and the Terras held out to remain unbeaten at home.

Terras extend unbeaten run

Blandford Utd 0 Weymouth Reserves 3

IN-form Weymouth Reserves travelled to basement boys Blandford United in the Dorset Premier League with predictable results, running out easy winners and extending their unbeaten run to five matches.

The visitors started brightly taking the lead on 12 minutes courtesy of Josh Tennant, the first of a brace for the young centre forward.

The Terras struck again just 12 minutes later, a superb ball by skipper Adam Anstey met by Tennant whose fine header doubled the visitor's advantage.

Although the home side were under pressure throughout the first, the Seasiders were unable to capitalise on their early dominance and went into the break with just a two goal lead that could have easily have been more.

A hatful of chances went begging for the Terras, denied by either the woodwork or the home keeper in a frustrating period for the visitors.

Weymouth continued to dominate in the second period with Mark Ford adding to the tally on 49 minutes.

However, Blandford battled hard and stemmed pressure from the visitors in a game that became scrappy with Weymouth shot-stopper Ryan Parks untested with barely a shot on target giving Weymouth an easy victory that sees them tucked in behind the leaders with a game in hand.

Weymouth manager Jake Richmond was pleased with the overall performance and was impressed with the Blandford keeper.

"I think we must have hit the woodwork four or five times and their keeper was absolutely outstanding.

"I would have liked to have seen us be more clinical with our finishing but at the end of the day we won and we played well."
